

Judge Hits Premature Freedom For Convicts

JUDGE JOHN HAMMOND
Urges more prisons

KIRK WARD
Hotel inmate jailed

Berrien Fifth District Court Judge John T. Hammond blasted the Michigan Department of Corrections yesterday for its policy of allowing prison inmates believed nonviolent to complete their minimum sentence while living under supervision in hotels such as the Milner in Benton Harbor.

Hammond charged that the DOC policy is circumventing existing state law which specifies the minimum amount of time convicts must spend behind bars before they are eligible for parole.

As an example, he said that under the law a man sentenced to serve 2 to 5 years in prison could be eligible for parole in 18 months with time off for good behavior.

He Learns Prisoners Leave
Well Before Minimum Time Is Completed Behind Bars

However, under the present DOC policy, Hammond said, some inmates are spending six months to a year of that 18-month period living in hotels or private homes, working at jobs, and are free to roam the streets in their spare time until the 11 p.m. curfew.

"If I had made the painful decision to send somebody to prison for the safety of the community, I would be outraged to find him freed and out on the streets in far less than the minimum time," Hammond said.

Hammond, a district court judge, has authority to impose sentences only in misdemeanor cases where the penalty is up to one year in jail. All sentences for felonies are imposed by circuit court judges.

Hammond said the DOC is using the program to make more room in overcrowded prisons. However, the program was not established by the state legislature and sentencing judges are not being notified that convicts are being returned to the street early, he charged.

There were 12 convicts lodged in the Milner yesterday, and three more were expected to arrive before the day was out, according to Clark T. Johnson, senior parole/probation agent in charge of the Benton Harbor Correctional Facility, which is at 687 East Empire avenue.

Statewide, there are about 1,000 convicts serving out the remaining six months to a year of their minimum sentence while living in hotels or private homes under supervision of parole agents, according to Johnson.

Those selected for the program must find a job within 30 days and pay all their expenses, including rent. Selection for the program is based on the likelihood of the convict avoiding violence. People convicted of violent crimes or with violent histories are not eligible, Johnson said.

In the past year Johnson has seen about 50 convicts come through and only three or four got into trouble, he said. It was one of those who got into trouble that prompted Hammond to take a close look at the program, the judge said.

Hammond said he only learned of the program last month when a Milner resident was brought before him for arraignment on a felony charge of breaking and entering an auto.

The resident, Kirk A. Ward, 20, of Benton Harbor, was accused of breaking into an auto July 4. Hammond said that date was only about a week after Ward arrived at the Milner from prison to serve out the remainder of a 2- to 5-year sentence.

Ward was sentenced Sept. 30, 1976, by Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of entering without permission. He had originally been charged with breaking and entering.

Hammond said that counting 71 days served in jail prior to sentencing, Ward should have served a minimum of 18 months behind bars before being eligible for parole.

However, Ward was returned to Benton Harbor after spending just a little more than 11 months behind bars, Hammond said.

Hospital Boards' Merger Will Take Effect Saturday

The Southwestern Michigan Health Care Association, a new corporation, on Saturday will become the legal owner of Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph, and Mercy Hospital, Benton Harbor.

Final papers were signed yesterday for the Oct. 1 merger of the Benton Harbor Hospital Association and the Memorial Hospital Association of St. Joseph, Michigan, into the Southwestern corporation.

Lester C. Tiscornia, chairman of the new association, said: "Memorial and Mercy hospitals will be operated by the new corporation as separate divisions and in the near future there will not be any changes in operations or personnel at either hospital."

The Benton Harbor Hospital Association was incorporated in 1904 as owner of Mercy Hospital. The Memorial Hospital Association was incorporated in 1935 as the St. Joseph, Michigan, Hospital Association. The Southwestern Michigan

Health Care Association was incorporated March 22, 1977.

The incorporators named a board of trustees consisting of E.A. Baillif, Leon P. Gideon, Walter A. Holt, Nelson A. (Ber) Lindenfeld, Tiscornia, and Robert B. Willemijn.

Trustees elected the following officers: Tiscornia, chairman; Willemijn, vice chairman; Baillif, secretary; and John Hunter, treasurer and assistant secretary. Robert A. Bradburn and C.T. Loftus were elected association vice presidents, and will continue as administrators of Memorial and Mercy hospitals, respectively.

The chief operating officer of the association will be a president who has yet to be named.

The board of trustees of the new corporation will be expanded effective Oct. 1 to include the following additional trustees, all members of the former hospital boards: Willard J. Banyum, Mrs. Vere Bowman, A. Edward Brown, Harold Carl-

4-H Cookie Sale Begins October 1

Around 3,000 Berrien county 4-H members will begin ringing doorbells throughout the area Saturday, Oct. 1, as they launch their 14th annual door-to-door cookie sale.

Mrs. Martin Granger, 4-H leader's association secretary, said that six varieties of cookies will be offered at $1 per package during the week-long sale. Profits from the sale are divided between the local 4-H clubs and the leader's association.

Kalamazoo County Sheriff Ousted By Recall Election

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Voters in Kalamazoo County have recalled Sheriff Ronald Keim by better than a 2-to-1 margin in a dispute stemming from the layoff of 11 deputies.

With virtually all returns counted, the vote was 22,000-9,800 favoring recall.

Keim, 44, was elected to his second term last November. The recall drive started about a month later, however, when he announced he would not reappoint the deputies at the beginning of the term.

The sheriff contended he had done nothing wrong in releasing the men, but the deputies had a contract with the county through the Fraternal Order of Police.

A special election will be held to elect a new sheriff, probably Nov. 8 to coincide with the municipal election.

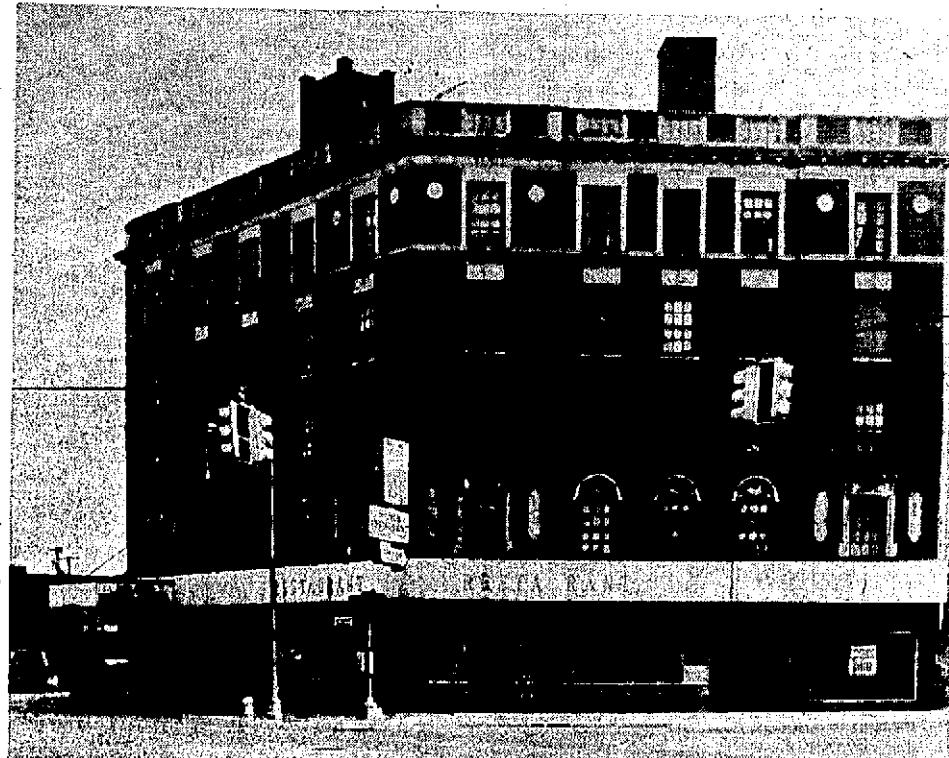

Keim's immediate replacement is expected to be Undersheriff Clyde Graven, who may be among the candidates nominated by political parties in the next 15 days.

When Keim first announced his decision to drop the deputies from his staff, he said his action had nothing to do with budget problems. He said the 11 deputies were simply the worst of officers in the department.

But in his final appeal to voters in the recall election, Keim said he had based his action on projected 1977 budget cuts for his department.

His critics argued that normal attrition would have accomplished the same thing.

HOME FOR CONVICTS: Benton Harbor Correctional Facility supervises convicts living in Milner Motor Hotel serving out remainder of their minimum sentence. There were 12 living there yesterday and three were expected to arrive from prison before day was out, according to corrections officials. Milner, 250 East Main St., is also home of six convicted felons in strictly supervised Probation Incentive Program, officials said. Convicts in both programs must work days and return for bed check at 11 p.m. (Staff photo)

NAACP Urging Others To Adopt BH Gun Rule

bor city commissioners last night the organization supports the Benton Harbor Police Department regulation on use of firearms that resulted in a 15-day suspension of Patrolman Lloyd Hughes.

"We believe that a person should be tried in the courts as the system provides," Mary DeFoe said. "We abhor the actions of some policemen who act under the color of the law, or in plain terms, act as judge and jury," she said.

Mrs. DeFoe also said surrounding communities should adopt a firearms regulation similar to Benton Harbor's. "The NAACP has recommended at all times swift apprehension of law breakers," she said. "We don't want criminals running loose, but we want law and order with justice."

Mrs. DeFoe said she was speaking as "chief spokesman" for the organization "with the consensus" of the Twin City NAACP chapter officers. The chapter has adopted no formal resolution on the issue, she said. The regulation has drawn criticism from police organizations, including the Benton Harbor Patrolman's Association. It requires that an officer may fire his weapon only at a known felon who used or is attempting to use deadly force in the commission of a crime and only after all other attempts to prevent escape have failed.

Hughes was suspended 15 working days without pay for firing a shot at a fleeing burglary suspect.

Hughes is white, and the burglary suspect, who was arrested after seeking treatment for a gunshot wound to the hand, is black. Police Andrew Rodez, who is black, has denied any racial motivation in the suspension.

Rodez and City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. have defended the regulation saying it provided the city and its police officers with the best protection against criminal liability.

Mrs. DeFoe also commended the Benton Harbor Police Department "for their tremendous efforts in educating the general public regarding crime control and prevention under the adverse conditions of high unemployment, poor housing conditions, and the inadequate job skills prevalent in the community."

"We're not against police," she said. "We're against police taking the law into their own hands."

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Facts Don't Support Farmer And Rodez

Benton Harbor City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. and Police Chief Andrew Rodez are correct when they say policemen are better protected from civil and criminal liability if they don't fire their guns.

It is also true that aviators are safer if they never fly.

But who would catch criminals and who would carry air cargoes around the world? Some risk has to be accepted in doing either.

Moreover, Manager Farmer and Chief Rodez are a long way from correct in implying that police officers in Michigan are inadequately protected from liability when the officers use their guns properly in capturing fleeing burglars.

And when the two city officials blame "the law" and the "Legislature" for the Benton Harbor police department's restrictive policy on the use of firearms, they are mystifying a whole bunch of lawyers, policemen and other people.

There isn't any such law. Michigan's Legislature has never written a statute on the subject.

In the use of firearms by policemen, Michigan is one of 43 states that are governed more or less by the common law rule. Simply stated, the common law rule says a police officer may use deadly force to prevent the escape of a fleeing felon, so long as the officer has exhausted all other reasonable means and doesn't use his weapon viciously or excessively.

Benton Harbor has a much different policy, one that has become the center of a bitter controversy since Sept. 16 when Chief Rodez suspended Patrol-

More Slavery For The State

Slaves of the state do as they are told; thinking — and free — men and women prefer to make their own decisions. It may be time to begin applying this yardstick more emphatically against some of the proposals coming from government offices.

For there is little question that the trend in governmental affairs continues in the direction of Big Brotherism. The edicts pronouncing what a citizen can or cannot do flow in a steady stream. It is for our own good, we are told.

And it may be for our good, on a case by case basis. But the method is what is troublesome. The decision is to be made elsewhere, for us. Automobile air bags, unproven and expensive, will be mandatory. Smoke detectors, highly recommended by many insurance and fire authorities, are now mandatory in new residences in Maryland and Connecticut and interest on similar compulsion is building at the federal level.

Replacing reasoned discourse and persuasion with compulsion is not the path of a free society.

man Lloyd Hughes for 15 days. Hughes was disciplined for firing a shot at a fleeing burglar suspect. A suspect was arrested four hours later when he came to Mercy hospital for treatment of a hand wound. Chief Rodez cited a Benton Harbor departmental regulation that permits an officer to fire his weapon only at a known felon who used or is using deadly force. The regulation does not permit firing at a fleeing burglar suspect who hasn't, or isn't threatening to, hurt anyone.

The police chief defended the policy on grounds state law doesn't provide either criminal or civil liability protection for policemen who shoot many types of felons.

The city manager agreed and told citizen critics of the policy to seek recourse with the Legislature. And he declared Sept. 22 that a gun control policy similar to Benton Harbor's has been adopted by 24 states.

Neither the manager's nor the chief's defense of the city regulation is consistent with the facts. The two city officials appear to have been reading the September, 1977, issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin—but only very carelessly. J. Paul Boutwell, special agent in the FBI's Legal Counsel Division, presents an article on "Use of Deadly Force to Arrest a Fleeing Felon—A Constitutional Challenge."

FBI Agent Boutwell presents arguments for the old "common law rule" and arguments for the "Model Penal Code" proposal that is similar to Benton Harbor's regulation. The reader may take his choice. But there can't be any quibbling about the facts of which states permit use of the common law rule and which follow something else.

Thirty-one states, all listed in Boutwell's footnotes, have written statutes on use of deadly force by police officers. Of the 31, 17 have retained the rule that police may shoot at any escaping felon. Seven states still let police shoot but only at suspects fleeing from seven types of so-called "forcible" felonies: murder, arson, mayhem, burglary, aggravated battery, rape, kidnapping, extortion and robbery. "M.A.M. BARKER" is the acronym used to help officers learn the seven forcible felonies.

Seven states have statutes which have adopted gun policies similar to Benton Harbor's from the Model Penal Code. Nineteen other states, including Michigan, simply follow the common law rule without having codified it, permitting officers to shoot at any fleeing felon with aforementioned reservations.

In an interesting sidelight, FBI Author Boutwell calls attention to the fact that New York and Idaho adopted the Model Penal Code law, later repealed it and reinstated the common law rule.

The Benton Harbor city manager and police chief appear to want the Legislature to provide either financial insurance, criminal immunity, or both, for policemen before they would allow officers to shoot at fleeing burglars. Such a course could encourage really wanton abuse of power by policemen. In this part of Michigan at least, the courts have provided very adequate protection for policemen who used their guns properly. There's no point in passing a statutory "shooting license."

The Benton Harbor Patrolmen's Association and the Berrien County Deputies Association both have publicly challenged the Benton Harbor gun regulation. They claim it will encourage burglary in a city that the patrolmen said has "already been brought to its knees by crime." And they declare that Manager Farmer and Chief Rodez are wrong in asserting the city is required by law to have the policy.

The deputies and patrolmen are right on both counts.

BERRIEN GENERAL IC UNIT PRAISED

Enclosed is a copy of a letter I sent to Mrs. Bruce, the administrator of Berrien General hospital, commending the staff of the Intensive Care Unit, for their skill and compassion during the hospitalization of one of the members of our congregation.

At a time when Berrien General hospital is meeting opposition in its quest to develop a new Intensive Care Unit, I felt that sharing this letter with you and your readers may prove helpful and supportive of their efforts.

Rev. C. William Pearson,
Pastor
St. Mark Lutheran Church
717 E. Napier Ave.
Benton Harbor

Dear Mrs. Bruce:
I am writing to give my highest commendation to the staff of your Intensive Care Unit for their excellence and compassion which they showed as they cared for Mrs. Nanette Cummings during the 12 days prior to her death.

As one who has worked in a hospital and who is visiting persons in hospitals very frequently, I feel that I am more than normally sensitive and perceptive when it comes to the quality of care and the attitude of personnel.

Never in my experience have I seen such genuine, Christian care and compassion as was lived out day by day by the nurses in ICU. They cared about Nan; they agonized with the family and myself as Nan drew closer and closer to death; they went out of their way to be supportive of all of us.

I hope you will share my deepest gratitude, and that of the family, with the entire ICU staff.

Peace and joy,
Rev. C. William Pearson

JUST CALL HER BY OWN NAME

I vote with several writers who have recently asked you to address them by their own names. I go in the dog house with you on this issue because I have previously collaborated with you without consulting my husband to use his name where mine should have been used. I assumed that I was honoring him, however, on close examination, it was an insult.

We women have promoted our non-person image as much as anybody. Some still insist on anonymity because it is a terrific way to avoid responsibility, bask in another's glory, and blame him if we are unhappy.

Ms is as redundant as Mr., Mrs., Miss, and Master. It has long been the accepted abbreviation for Master of Science and Morphine Sulfate. Please do not use any of the prefixes when referring to me.

It has been thought by some that using the above handles was an act of showing respect. Not so! Some very deceiving individuals use the names of adults with full respect. It has been said to be "Christian." For those who have been so misled may I remind you all that the most honored by God and man of all women is, in the Bible, simply called "Mary" without any discredited to her marriage or her husband.

Thank you for allowing this continuing discussion.

COLOMA — When voters in the Pier school district finally voted to annex to the Coloma Community school district on July 31, a plan first proposed 43 years earlier was completed. The consolidation of Pier school district and nine other area districts was first voted upon Feb. 12, 1932. A second attempt failed for lack of signatures on a petition calling for the election in 1930. Since 1933, all districts have annexed to the Coloma system. The Pier district high school students were bused for the past two years to Gallen, the only school that would accept the students.

The structure is to cost in the neighborhood of $70,000, has eight bedrooms, living and school rooms, garage, laundry and ample quarters for the house parent. Probate Judge Malcolm Hatfield stated construction will begin after finding a suitable location to erect the building.

DECATUR, Sept. 27 — The little village of Decatur fairly burst at the seams with pride, not to mention people, yesterday when the townspeople turned out in masses to give their favorite son, Edgar Bergen, a wallowing welcome home. An unexpected customer was Michigan's Governor G. Mennen Williams. Bergen was also made an honorary member of the Military Order of Cookies, V.F.W. and played the bass drum with the Decatur high school band for the parade down Decatur's main street.

There Oughta Be A Law

WASHINGTON — For most Americans, it is the single largest financial transaction they will confront throughout their lives. But both buyers and sellers are regularly cheated because only the "experts" fully understand what's happening — and their profits often are contingent upon keeping consumers uninformed.

The transaction is the buying or selling of a house.

A recent University of Houston study concludes that the sale or purchase of a house is so traumatic it ranks not far behind divorce or the death of a spouse in producing stress in those involved.

Even those who criticize the federal government for excessive meddling in the affairs of individuals and businesses probably would agree that this is one area where Washington should intervene to eliminate abuses.

There is, in fact, a law which directs the Department of Housing and Urban Development to provide such protection for the consumer: the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act, first passed by Congress in December 1974.

But a year later, the politically powerful "settlement industry," realizing its lucrative fees were endangered, pressured Congress to drastically weaken the law.

Eliminated in the January 1976 revision, for example, were key provisions requiring a) that both buyers and sellers be informed, in advance of the settlement of all fees to be imposed, and b) disclosure of the price paid the last time the house changed hands.

"They passed a very strong law, then gutted it a year later. It was the fastest repeal since prohibition," says Washington attorney Benny L. Kass.

We Should Dig For Our Lives

COLUMBUS, OHIO — (NEA) — More than 87 per cent of the world's water is non-potable ocean. And of the fresh water available, most is locked uselessly in glaciers and polar ice. Yet the situation is not entirely gloomy; the National Water Wells Association says mankind has plenty of untapped water under its nose — that is, under the ground.

Indeed, the association says the potential of American subsurface water alone is statistically staggering. Only 36 per cent of the fresh water in this country is contained in rivers and lakes; twenty times that much is buried in enormous aquifers, or reservoirs, within the first 2.5 miles of the U.S. continental crust.

Some of this water is already being used, of course. NWWA director Jay Lehr says Americans are digging wells at the rate of 750,000 a year. Yet in the main, ground water use is moderate at best, Lehr says that Americans consume more than 375 billion gallons of fresh water daily, but only 80 billion of it is from the ground.

This moderate exploitation of subsurface water is foolish, Lehr insists. He adds that it is also risky. Federal figures indicate America has nearly 250 quadrillion gallons of readily available ground water, or 7,000 years worth at present consumption; NWWA suggests much more of it should be drawn to quench the national thirst.

The suggestion seems reasonable. Lehr says ground water is far more clean than surface varieties. Also, it is usually produced "at a fraction of the cost" of the water from lakes and rivers; NWWA has figures to prove that in some cases the cost of drawing surface water is 10, and even 30 times as expensive as sinking satisfactory wells.

Lehr says Europeans learned this decades ago. Ground water is the primary rather than secondary source in most old world nations. Yet in the U.S., where lakes and streams are more prolific, and visible, subsurface water remains virtually a contingency resource: Of America's 100 largest cities, only 18 get their water from the soil.

Why the oversight? Lehr says it's partly psychological: "River water can be seen, ground water cannot, and people react accordingly." Besides, Lehr adds, there is an unfortunate mysticism associated with ground water. "People think we get it by using waterwitches, or something; we don't of course, but it's hard to change the image."

The image of ground water is also colored by a general belief that it is, in the overall, unreliable. Every time a well runs dry, the belief is reinforced. Lehr says the public education in this regard is woeful. Most wells that run dry, he says, are improperly dug; scientifically engineered wells almost inevitably recharge themselves.

Today there should be no reason for unsatisfactory wells. The era of the diving rod is over. Lehr says modern water wells are dug with the same expertise and geological competence as are oil wells. Computers are the waterwitches of the 1970s. Lehr says digging wells is every bit as advanced an art as constructing dams.

Still, three times more U.S. water comes from dams than wells. And public ignorance isn't the whole reason. Lehr says surface water projects create jobs for workers, profits for corporations and votes for politicians. Small wonder they are favored. "There's no profit in wells," Lehr sighs. "That's the real reason we don't dig more of them."

Office Tug-Of-War Cuts Off Cable TV Installation In BH

Installation of cable television lines in Benton Harbor has been stopped because the Benton Harbor City Commission has not approved a new contract with the cable television company, the regional manager of BFM Cable Communications, said last night.

And Benton Harbor city commissioners said last night they will not approve the contract until an issue over the location of the cable television company's office and studio is resolved. Commissioners contend office and studio should be located in the city.

George S. Jones, regional manager of BFM Communicat-

tions, said Michigan Bell stopped the cable TV company from installing cable lines along telephone poles in the city 10 days ago because the company did not have a contract with the city.

Commission approval of a new contract is necessary, Jones said, because ownership of the company has changed hands since the city commission originally approved the franchise contract.

Commissioners said last night the original owner of the cable television company had agreed to locate the company's office and studio within the city limits, thus generating property taxes for the city. The company's office is now located at 306 West Empire Ave. in St. Joseph Township. The company has not yet built a local studio.

The city commission approved a contract with Benton Harbor Cable TV, Inc., a Kalamazoo-based firm headed by Earl Drake, in February, 1976. Jones said the company ownership changed hands in September, 1976.

City Atty. K. Morris Gavin said the original contract does not specifically spell out the agreement to locate in the city, but said the "intent" was clear. The contract says the company "will maintain a studio for the use of the city."

"Regardless of what the contract says, the intent was to locate the office and studio in the city," Mayor Joel Patterson said. "While that may not be a point of legal contention, that may be the point of impasse with the commission right now."

"We originally approved the contract on the basis that they were moving into the city," Commissioner Charles

Machine Gun Case Ends In Fine, Probation

Johnnie Williams, 50, of 634 Highland Ave., Benton Harbor, was placed on two years probation Monday for attempted possession of a machine gun at Bachelor 14 Club.

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White also ordered Williams to pay $200 fine and costs. Williams originally had been charged with possession of a machine gun.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said a .45-caliber "burp" machine gun was seized at the social club, 171 North Euclid Ave., Benton Township.

Sgt. William Scott of the Benton Harbor post said the machine gun was still being kept at the post, but would probably be sent to the quarter-master's office at state police headquarters unless it's wanted by the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of the U.S. Treasury Department.

HEADED FOR RIVER BOTTOM: This 420-foot length of 36-inch diameter steel pipe is being assembled on Radio Island as part of a $450,000 Michigan Bell Telephone Co. project. Robert DeVries, Sr., Michigan Bell engineer, said pipe will contain telephone cables that form the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph trunk route. DeVries, who designed the project, said steel pipe will be installed in trench dredged in bottom of St. Joseph River, north of the Twin Cities Bicentennial bridge. According to U.S. Army Corps of Engineers permit, top of pipe must be 26 feet below the water when river is at its low datum, he said. Pipe will replace three cables at river bottom which now carry trunk line calls. The three cables are inadequate for current needs, he said. Only a small part of the pipe will be used to carry telephone cables, at first. Pipe is large enough to contain all the cables that will be in use 100 years from now, DeVries estimated. New trunk route line across Morrison Channel was built last year and lines are attached to bottom of new bridge. (Staff photo)

St. Joseph city commissioners said yesterday they will decide at their meeting next Monday whether to adopt a measure that would require school bus drivers to halt traffic with red flashing lights when loading or unloading children in the city.

Commissioners said they want to meet with St. Joseph school officials to see if an arrangement could be made whereby buses would not stop on the busy main arteries of Main Street and Niles Avenue.

Commissioners Joseph Hanley and William Gillespie said they would favor a stop-and-go measure provided the buses do not create traffic jams on the main arteries.

township managers to the land-fill board of trustees in place of themselves.

City Manager Gerald Hepler said the amendment was sought in St. Joseph Township Manager Isadore DiMaggio could be appointed to replace Supervisor Orval Benson on the board.

The commission voted to adopt a soil erosion and sedimentation ordinance that will give the city authority to control movement of soil or sediment by permit.

The ordinance contains provisions that require erosion protection measures such as seeding when soil is moved.

City Atty. Arthur G. Preston Jr. said passage of the ordinance was necessary to allow the city to issue a permit for construction of a 70-slip marina on the Morrison channel. The marina will be owned by the city.

Motorist Blames Bee For Crash

Berrien sheriff's officers said Monday a motorist told them a bee caused him to lose control of his car and strike a tree on North Watervliet Road near Boyer Road in Watervliet Township.

Deputy Paul Cavaness reported Walter E. Stearns Jr., 34, of 281 Hutton, Watervliet Township, told him he was driving south on North Watervliet road when a bee flew in a window.

Stearns said he was swatting at the bee when he lost control of the car and struck a tree on the east side of the road, according to Cavaness.

Stearns did not require treatment for minor injuries sustained in the 12:15 p.m. crash and no ticket was issued. Cavaness said.

IAM Retirees Meet Thursday At Union Hall

Retired members of International Association of Machinists (IAM), Local 1918, will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday, at the new union hall, 2655 US-33, Benton township, according to Erv Appleget, retired member chairman.

Under the state motor vehicle code, school buses cannot use their red flashing lights within the corporate boundaries of cities and villages unless there is a local law requiring it. Buses must use the flashing lights outside the corporate limits.

The measure is being sought in St. Joseph by Concerned Citizens for Washington School.

Commissioners' comments yesterday came after Barbara Krugger, of 805 Lake Blvd., asked when the commission was going to act on the request.

In other areas, the commission postponed until Oct. 10 a hearing on whether a house at 3320 Lake Shore Drive should be demolished because of failure to comply with building ordinances.

The owner, Mrs. Carmen Green, had been given until yesterday to show progress in correcting structural deficiencies found in recent building department inspections.

Carl Conklin, director of building and inspections, said he had been unable to contact Mrs. Green during the past week to inspect the inside of the house. As a consequence, he recommended an extension.

The commission adopted an amendment to the articles of incorporation of the Northwestern Berrien County Sanitation Authority that will allow township supervisors to appoint

MEA Launches Drive To Organize State Employees

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Education Association officials say they will know in a few weeks whether their campaign to organize state employees will be successful. A six-week organizing drive by the MEA, which represents school teachers and other affiliated groups, was launched Monday. The association and its nearly 100,000 members have for years advocated collective bargaining for state employees.

The state Department of Civil Service is deciding which classes of employees can band together for bargaining. The MEA is one of several unions making a pitch to state employees in hopes of becoming their agent. "We believe that through affiliation with MEA, state employees will then be able to share in that political strength which is necessary if all public employees are to adequately demonstrate their needs for change and improvement," MEA Executive Director Herman Coleman told a news conference Monday.

MEA will spend from $30,000 to $50,000 in the first stage of the campaign. Some 32 staff members will ask employees to sign cards indicating they want the Organization of Classified State Employees (OCSE), a new MEA branch, to represent them. Ingham and Wayne counties, where most state employees work, have been targeted. If enough state employees sign up, Coleman said, the MEA will ask for an election to see whether the employees want to be represented by the OCSE.

Mike Devine, acting director of the newly formed OCSE, said secretaries, institutions, human services and their support groups and administrative support units have been targeted for the campaign. These five areas employ more than half of the state's workers.

State employees use a modified meet-and-confer process rather than collective bargaining. The Civil Service Commission and the state personnel director are in the process of classifying employees. Rather than a union representing an entire department, it will represent different job classes. A three-member state board now hears presentations on behalf of employees seeking increased wages and job benefits. The board makes recommendations to the Civil Service Commission, which makes the final decision.

MEA is battling two other unions who represent about half the state employees. They are the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO) and the Michigan State Employees Association. But the MEA says they're both weak. Under the OCSE, state employees would gain the MEA's clout. Although collective bargaining usually is ineffective without the threat of a strike, Coleman said, "We're not even thinking about that now. But it's always a possibility. We only do it when we're forced to." Coleman also would not say how much the MEA is prepared to spend in the over-all organization drive. "We're already in the water with both feet," he said.

Michaelmas Day Observed Since The Year 480

While most Americans are going about their routine business on Sept. 29, central Pennsylvanians and a great many Europeans are busy preparing for a year of prosperity by celebrating "Goose Day."

Actually, "Goose Day" is the popular name given to the Day of the Feast of Saint Michael and All Angels, a religious holiday which always falls on Sept. 29 since Pope Felix III proclaimed it a festival in the year 480. The holiday immediately became a popular feast day in England, a day of honor and respect for Archangel Michael, guardian and protector of the people. Civil magistrates were elected to office on that day since they, too, were the guardians of the people.

Soon it became customary to feast on goose on that day. It wasn't until Queen Elizabeth learned of the British Navy's victory over the "invincible"

Spanish Armada that success and good fortune officially became associated with the Michaelmas goose. Although the battle occurred in July, legend has it that the Queen learned of the victory on Michaelmas Day while eating her holiday goose.

Even prior to Queen Elizabeth, back at least to the 16th century, rents were paid by tenants to their landlords four times yearly. Michaelmas Day was one of the rent or quarter-days, and the tenants would present to their landlords "a good stubble goose" with the Michaelmas rent hoping to insure renewal of the lease. Moreover, the Michaelmas goose was eaten by the Germans who believed they could foretell the weather from the breast bones of the goose on that day, while in Ireland, Michaelmas was one of the most important feasts of the year since it was believed that eating the Michaelmas goose protected against sickness.

A Michaelmas pie with a golden ring baked inside was served in Ireland along with the goose (in England it was a Michaelmas cake). The finder of the ring, so the legend goes, would have an early marriage.

Michaelmas Day came to America about 200 years ago. The Pennsylvania Dutch acquired it from the English in a most roundabout way. A Dutchman by the name of Andrew Pontius could not find a tenant farmer in Bucks or Snyder counties to help work his land so he went to Lancaster county, a stronghold of Pennsylvania Germans, to find a fellow countryman to take the job. In Harrisburg he met a young Britisher named Archibald Hunter whom he hired on the spot.

Hunter asked the Dutchman if he could settle his year's account on Sept. 29, and the Dutchman agreed without knowing of the Michaelmas Day tradition. When Michaelmas Day came around, Hunter, the Englishman, went to his Dutch landlord with his annual settlement in one hand and a large, plump goose in the other. He explained to the Dutchman the old English proverb about never wanting for money all year round if you ate goose on Michaelmas Day. The Dutchman loved the tradition and is said to be responsible for perpetuating it in Pennsylvania.

Today, with not many landlords owning farmers' land, with more people in larger cities than was the case in 15th century Europe, Michaelmas Day means pay-up the bills.

Pay the rent, of course, but pay the charge accounts, the bank loans and the rest of the accounts payable, too. Then, do as they do in central Pennsylvania and through most of Europe. Indulge yourself in a good goose dinner on Michaelmas Day, and do it just for luck. There is a good chance for a year of prosperity. After all, it is a golden goose.

Handy Tip For Homemakers

If you happen to run out of cornflake crumbs and don't have time to rush in the store in time for dinner, here's a handy tip.

Take the amount of crumbs called for in the recipe and multiply by three. This will give you the proper amount of corn flakes that when crushed, will yield the proper amount and consistency of crumbs.

Programs For 1977-78

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Musical comedian Victor Borge and the Indianapolis Symphony will be two of the main attractions in Andrews University's 1977-78 Concert-Picture Series, according to Norman J. Roy, series director.

The symphony will perform March 28 under the direction of John Nelson. Following the appearance at Andrews, the orchestra will perform at Washington's Kennedy Center and Carnegie Hall in New York.

Victor Borge will be in concert March 11, combining his keyboard talent with his well-known humor.

Other programs planned for the season will include "The Coast Story," a film presentation highlighting the celebrated underwater exploits of Jacques Cousteau.

William Warfield, bass-baritone, will perform from a repertoire which ranges from oratorio works to American spirituals.

One of the world's finest boys' choirs, the Boychoir of Princeton, will present a program that has been entertaining audiences since 1937.

The Andrews University orchestra directed by Charles Davis will be joined in concert this year by guest artists Gary Karr, who plays the largest of orchestral instruments, the double bass.

Also included are the Balancing Knechts, an American acrobatic family show; G. Robert Vincent and his Panorama of the Past, a collection of documentary sounds; the Andrews University concert band, directed by Patricia Silver; organist Edith Ho; Andrews' own acrobatic troupe, the Gymnics, coached by Robert Kalua; and the University Singers, under the direction of Franklin L. Lusk.

"The Other Side of the Mountain," heads the list of feature films offered by the series, along with "The Man Who Skied Mt. Everest." Narrated films include the Warren Miller Ski Film, Ken Armstrong's film adventure, and "The Grand Canyon" travelogue.

Complementing the Concert-Picture presentations is the Chamber Music Series. John Owings, an internationally renowned pianist, initiates the schedule with an Oct. 2 performance. Vera Schwarz, harpsichordist, and Leslie Riskowitz, the South African keyboard artist, will also appear in October.

Also participating are the International String Quartet; the Andrews University Chamber Players; the DeVos String Quartet from the Grand Rapids Symphony; and Franklin L. Lusk, tenor, and LeRoy Peterson, violinist, from the Andrews faculty.

Admission prices are $2.50 for the Concert-Picture programs and $2 for the Chamber Music concerts. Season passes are $20.

Special rates on season tickets are available for senior citizens and children. Tickets and additional information may be obtained by writing to Concert-Picture Series, Andrews University, or by calling the university.

Concert-Picture Series programs will be held Saturday evenings in the Alvin Johnson auditorium on the campus. The Chamber Music events will be presented Sunday evenings in the Little Auditorium of Nethery Hall unless otherwise indicated on the ticket.

JOHN OWINGS

First Concert

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Award-winning pianist John Owings will open the 1977-78 Chamber Music Series at Andrews University when he performs in Price Hall at 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 2.

He is most recently the winner of the 1975 Robert Casadesu International Piano Competition in recognition of his interpretation of French repertoire.

Born in 1943, Owings made his orchestral debut with the San Antonio Symphony at the age of 18. In London for two years as a Fulbright Scholar, he appeared many times in London recital halls and recorded frequently for the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Returning to his country, Owings received his master's degree from The Juilliard School of Music, while at the same time performing throughout eastern and southern United States.

The concert will be presented in Price Hall in the biology section of the Science Complex on the Andrews campus. Tickets will be sold at the door and are $2.

One of Europe's finest harpschordists, Vera Schwarz, will perform a compendium of baroque and classical pieces in concert at Andrews University Monday, Oct. 3, at 8 p.m.

Considered an authority on late baroque and classical music, she has played at most of the international music festivals in Europe and with many major chamber ensembles and orchestras.

She was a guest performer and lecturer at the Kennedy Center and Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., in the Haydn Music Congress in 1975.

Formerly an instructor at the Vienna Music Academy, she is now professor of harpsichord and director of the Institute for performance practice at the Hochschule für Musik in Graz, Austria.

Vera Schwarz is the editor of "Beilage zur Aufführungs-leitung," an Austrian music publication; and she has recorded on Amadeo, Musical Heritage and Deutsche Grammophon labels.

The concert will be presented in the Little Auditorium of Nethery Hall on the Andrews campus and tickets will be sold at the door for $2.

To Observe Oct. 4 As 'Day Of Bread'

The price of bread — for ancient Phoenicians, Greeks, Romans, even as with Americans today — has always been a barometer of the cost of living.

In fact, in many by-gone cultures, workers were paid in bread — a practice still reflected in our modern expression of the family "bread winner," and reference to money as "bread."

The National "Day of Bread" committee, a non-profit organization, undertook an evaluation of information on food prices reported by various agencies to find out exactly how much money went where. The committee annually sponsors a "Day of Bread" to be marked this year on Tuesday, Oct. 4, during Harvest Festival Week.

The international event pays heed to man's dependence upon the bounty of the harvest and the United States committee is dedicated to the improvement of American diet.

The latest USDA figures show that consumers spent more on their food dollar for bakery products last year than any other domestic farm food except beef. Bakery foods expenditures were 11.6 per cent while those for beef were 16.5 per cent.

The average retail price of white bread, per-pound in June of 1977 was 36.3 cents, according to the United States Department of Labor. Yet, last November when the American Bakers Association concluded a survey on consumer attitudes toward bakery foods, most consumers thought that a loaf of bread cost between 46 and 70 cents. It seems that the bakery industry is alive, well and generally misunderstood.

The average wholesale production unit value for one pound, white pan bread in 1976 was 36.32 cents. The flour itself cost 6.3 cents. All ingredients combined cost 9.58 cents. Take off another 1.64 cents for the wrapper and it leaves 25.1 cents for labor and overhead.

Manufacturing labor and fringes (the production worker's share) was up 13.1 per cent over 1975, costing 3.2 cents per loaf. Wages were 1.65 cents and other manufacturing expenses, 2.02 cents. It takes 18.09 cents to have the bread ready to leave the bakery.

But the driver must be paid and his truck maintained. This costs another 7.81 cents. Finally, the driver wouldn't have a place to take the bread for sale without advertising and promotion — another 4.60 cents.

Customers wouldn't be customers for very long if the wholesaler didn't buy back unsold stale bread — another 2.85 cents per loaf.

Finally, the key to free enterprise is profit. The wholesale baker received 1.59 cents per loaf of bread last year, but this was before taxes.

Review Food Shopping Rules

Now that you are back into the fall routine, it is time to review some food shopping rules that can help you get the most from your money, reminds Maryann Beckman, District Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

Mrs. Beckman added: Before ever going to the store, check cupboards, refrigerator and freezer and know what you have on hand to plan meals around. Read and study your favorite store's weekly food ads and then begin to plan your week's menus around the store features and what you have in stock.

Be flexible in your menu planning, though, for most stores also have in-store specials, those that aren't included in their ads, that can be to your advantage.

Check produce departments especially, after you get to the store, for only a few fresh fruits and vegetables are included in ads, but many are available as in-store features. The in-season produce items, such as hard-shelled squash, broccoli, cauliflower, apples and pears, are generally the better values.

When you shop depends on your schedule but try to do your shopping when the store is not crowded and when you have time to select with care. Try to shop alone, if at all possible. Shopping with children, a friend or your spouse usually increases your food tab by seven to 10 per cent.

Shop, too, when your stomach is full, rather than when you're starving. Even the shopping carts look tastier when you're hungry. When hungry, most consumers tend to put "everything" in their carts, resulting in much higher expenditures. Some of what you spend when hungry, will probably go down the drain as wasted and/or spoiled food because you can't eat all of what you bought.

Know some of the psychology of food placement in the store, too. Retailers know that most consumers will buy "much more" when they see mass displays of products right inside the front door of the store, for example. People tend to put a wider variety of products in their carts (many that they don't need or won't use soon) when their pocketbooks are full and their carts are empty. When they get close to the end of their shopping trip, they become much more selective, in fear of spending too much over their budgets. Knowing this, helps you become more selective when you first enter the store as well.

Mass displays anywhere in the store are set up to attract your attention, to remind you of seasonal and other products that you may not have purchased for a time and to introduce you to new products.

They do their job well, but you can "blow your budget" unless you're selective in choosing these items. If you can use the products displayed, within the recommended time, by all means buy them, for many, but not all, are offered at feature prices. But, if you're really trying to hold the line on food expenses, choose these mass-displayed items in place of something else already on your list. That's why keeping your list flexible is so important.

Getting to know the layout of your store can help you save money, too. If you know the exact location of items in the store, you can re-organize your list to follow the store layout. This saves you back-tracking time as well as money. You're less likely to pick up a lot of extra items if you shop the aisles once and systematically.

Take the time to study labels, compare unit price markers and prices. There's no need to buy the highest priced macaroni product, for example, when you plan to mix it with a host of other ingredients so the macaroni is undistinguishable. This buying practice gives you a few more pennies to spend on a higher priced item of top quality, where the higher quality is more desirable and important.

Verses Speak For Millions

Dear Ann: If you think this is worthwhile, please print it. I wrote it for our special magazine, Good Health — The Consumer Health Monthly. Thank you. — John P. Callan, M.D., Hartford, Conn.

A NURSING HOME RESIDENT'S BILL OF RIGHTS

I am a resident of a nursing home.

I am a Human Being, who, through my contribution to society during my productive years, helped to mold a decent place in life for my generation and the generations that followed me.

I like to be treated with respect and dignity just as I have always tried to treat others.

I am and have been "Somebody" over the years, to many people, such as My Sweetheart My Wife My Husband

My Mother My Father My Daughter My Son My many Friends

If the waning years have been unkind to me, please don't blame me if I don't see too well I don't hear too well I spill my food I am incontinent I need help often I am cranky (though I don't want to be) I could be your: Mother Father Grandmother Grandfather.

Some day you may be a "Me." A little kindness, a soft word.

Some acknowledgment by you that I am still a person, not a "thing." This is all I ask.

Is it too much? Dear Dr. Callan: You have spoken for millions today and I thank you.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Help! I'm desperate! I'm a 40-year-old female and have suffered with duodenal ulcers for over 10 years. I've had three major bleeds and doctors pleading to operate.

I quit my job as "job pressures" created a second ulcer plus a bleed. I could endure the ulcer discomfort but with it always came an excruciating backache which makes me feel weak.

Not working has relieved my symptoms but has not been a total cure. Now I've read of a new miracle drug which produces a rapid cure of ulcers but it's in England.

Is there any hope for me other than surgery? Does the drug show promising results?

DEAR READER — A peptic ulcer may occur in either the stomach or the duodenum, but 80 per cent of them are duodenal — the type you have. They are much more common in men than in women and perhaps that is purely related to "job pressures" since more men are in high pressure jobs than women.

Your job experience may be an example of how this could change if more and more women move into high pressure jobs.

The pain in the back may be caused by the ulcer location. It may be penetrating the back side of the duodenum or irritating the pancreas which is imbedded against the duodenum.

I used to advise a period of hospitalization to treat the ulcer under controlled conditions before deciding on surgery. That way the doctor could be sure the medicines were taken regularly in the right amounts and that the diet was exactly what he prescribed. It is still a good idea but the staggering costs of hospitalization makes it less attractive to go into the hospital unless you absolutely have to do so. It is one way to isolate the patient from the other environmental stresses such as some of those related to

Mount Clemens Chief Resigns

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Police Chief Frederick Pickrahn is resigning after being questioned about shoplifting a $1.96 package of flowerpot hangers from a local department store.

City manager Edwin Whedon emerged from a two-hour meeting Monday with the chief, saying he believed Pickrahn was involved in the incident because of an emotional illness. Pickrahn, 58, requested retirement "for personal and health reasons," said Whedon, adding the chief will go on sick leave until Oct. 26 when his retirement becomes effective.

Pickrahn, a 26-year veteran of the force, was questioned about an incident at a Mount Clemens K-mart on Saturday. Pickrahn reportedly left the store without paying for flowerpot hangers. A guard who knew Chief Pickrahn, called police in this northern Detroit suburb and a deputy from the Macomb County sheriff's department, Pickrahn, chief for the past three months, was drawing a $26,600 salary.

Police huddled with aides in the Macomb County prosecutor's office to determine if any charges should be filed. A K-mart official said the store had not decided whether to press charges against Pickrahn.

House Eyes Abortions For Poor

By PEGGY SIMPSON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is deciding whether taxpayers should pay for abortions for poor women who are the victims of rape or incest or whose doctors say they need the surgery.

Today's vote is on a Senate proposal that is less restricted than the House stand limiting federal aid to cases in which a woman's life is in danger.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill had earlier forecast a decision Friday but speeded up the vote in the face of pressure from the Senate leadership and 70 fellow members of the House.

The abortion impasse has blocked final congressional approval of a $60.2-billion appropriation for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Without the congressional action, the two agencies would run out of money Friday, the end of the fiscal year. A resolution to continue spending at present levels would then be needed for payrolls to be met.

O'Neill scheduled the vote on the Senate provision over the still-vehement opposition of Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., chairman of the Labor-HEW appropriations subcommittee.

Flood, who has refused to allow the House to vote directly on the Senate language, Monday refused to take any part in bringing the Senate provision to the floor, as O'Neill had ordered.

Over the weekend, 70 congressmen with varying views on the abortion controversy asked Flood not to oppose a floor vote on the Senate provision.

The chairman of the full appropriations committee, Rep. George Mahon, D-Texas, Monday tried to persuade Flood to back a floor vote to break the Labor-HEW funds impasse.

Flood resisted again, however. Ultimately the House leadership persuaded Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, to bring the Senate provision to the House floor.

"Our concern is that the bill move out of Congress," a Stokes aide said. "Evidently no one else is willing to take a stand."

Since last summer's Supreme Court ruling that public funds need not be used to finance abortions for poor women, the federal government has cut off all Medicaid abortion aid except in cases where a woman's life was endangered.

After the court's decision, the Senate voted to expand federal aid to cases of rape or incest or where an abortion was deemed medically necessary.

The National Abortion Rights Action League said it was pleased that the issue finally would come before the full House.

The organization's legislative director, Carol Warner, said she had no head count but thought the more moderate provision stood a fair chance on the House floor.

Federal Agencies Ignore Pollution Rules -- EPA

CHICAGO (AP) — While private industry has been pushed to adhere to Environmental Protection Agency clean water standards in recent years, many federal installations have ignored the guidelines, EPA officials say.

Dale Bryson, deputy director of the EPA's Midwest region enforcement division, said Monday that 92 of 185 federal waste dischargers in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio violate clean water standards.

In Illinois, 14 of 38 federal facilities are in violation of current rules with Chamite Air Force Base in Randolph ranking among the worst, Bryson said.

Located about 125 miles south of Chicago, Chamite uses a sewage treatment plant built in 1942 that was designed to handle sewage from 5,000 people. The current base population is about 13,000, which overloads the system and causes the pollution of Salt Fork Creek, he said.

Also on the list of federal offenders in Illinois are two other military bases—Ft. Sheridan and Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Others include the main Chicago post office, three plants at the Joliet Army Ammunition plant, two Interior Department offices in Carterville, a Forest Service office in Vienna, Army Engineer facilities in Lithuania Springs and Rend City, an Army Reserve Center in Lombard and an Army maintenance facility in Orland Park.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce recently accused the EPA of dragging its feet against federal polluters while cracking down on cities and industries that failed to meet the July 1 deadline for sewage treatment requirements.

According to Bryson, a stepped-up compliance campaign now is under way.

"Where we find an instance of noncompliance, we will contact the federal facility in telephone calls or letters, pointing out the deficiencies," said Bryson.

If they are not corrected, Bryson said there is an "internal escalation process," under which the matter will be referred to EPA headquarters in Washington which then will sit down with the offending agency. Continuing disputes may be taken to the Office of Management and Budget, which controls the purse strings of all federal agencies, Bryson said.

Egypt Rejects Israel's Ban On PLO At Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt has rejected Israel's new demand that leaders of the Palestine Liberation Organization be barred from Arab-Israeli peace negotiations, dimming prospects for a Middle East peace conference in Geneva this year.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy told reporters Monday night that Israel's offer to accept Palestinians at the conference as members of a unified, pan-Arab delegation was a "non-starter" because Israel also said known PLO members would not be acceptable.

"It is very clear that the PLO will have to be present at Geneva," said Fahmy. "The question is under what formula they will participate."

"There is no question who will represent the Palestinians — the PLO. If the PLO will not be represented at Geneva, the Geneva conference will serve no useful purpose."

Fahmy added that Egypt and the United States were trying to work out a formula.

Meanwhile, a cease-fire prevailed in southern Lebanon today, but the Palestinian guerrillas showed no signs of pulling back from positions near the Israeli border.

The U.S.-mediated truce calls for Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon and a guerrilla pull-back from the border area. The guerrilla commander at Khiam, the major Palestinian position in southeast Lebanon, said he had instructions only to stop shooting.

The cease-fire became effective at 10 a.m. Monday. Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization, which agreed to the truce, reported some Israeli shelling afterward.

Crim Denies Raceway 'Deal'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Speaker Bobby Crim berated the Detroit News for printing what he called an unfounded allegation that he improperly persuaded a state official to issue a racing license to a track in his hometown.

Crim interrupted a House session Monday night to lash out at the News for quoting Grose Pointe Woods businessman Charles Beach as saying Crim pushed a bill helpful to state Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley. In return, Beach told the News, Shirley granted a racing license to Kelly Downs, a track under construction in Davison.

Beach was president and board chairman of Genesee Raceway Inc., which also wanted to build a racetrack in the Flint area.

Crim said the News had "squandered some of its share of the Watergate legacy" by printing the allegations by Beach on Sept. 10.

Both Crim and former racing commissioner Shirley denied any deal was made. And Crim accused the News of running a story based solely on the charges of a disappointed racetrack applicant.

Tennessee Judge Loses Seat After 'Profanity'

By MATT YANCEY Associated Press Writer KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A judge who uttered "Oh, for God's sake" because he was bored by a fellow judge's "unnecessary and insane questions" is being replaced on a state appeals court.

Judge Charles Galbreath, 52, appeared in the Supreme Court building here Monday wearing his robe only to find his seat on the Court of Criminal Appeals taken by another judge.

Judge William Russell, presiding member of the three-judge panel, said he was prompted to replace Galbreath for remarks about a colleague that appeared in a Nashville newspaper.

Russell and Judge Martha Craig Daughtrey accused Galbreath of uttering "Oh, for God's sake" while Daughtrey was questioning an attorney during the court's session Sept. 16 in Nashville.

Galbreath told the Nashville Tennessean that he was bored by "unnecessary and insane questions by Judge Daughtrey."

"I'm sure that I said 'for God's sake' under my breath, but for God's sake so what?" Galbreath said. "If I've done something so wrong that makes me unfit to serve, I'd like to know what I've done."

It was not the first time Galbreath has lost favor with his fellow judges.

Last year, the Tennessee Judicial Conference joined the appellate court in censuring Galbreath for writing Larry Flynt, publisher of the sexually explicit Hustler magazine, on stationery that bore the names of all members of the criminal appeals court.

The letter was reproduced in the July 1978 issue of Hustler, under the heading: "Hip-Hip, Hoorny. An Unsolicited Letter from Judge Charles Galbreath."

In it, the judge said he was the only appellate judge he knew of "who has officially admitted that he enjoys reading some pornographic literature." He also commented on Tennessee's sex laws and government censorship.

He said later he would not have used official stationery if he had known the letterhead with the other judges' names would be reproduced in the magazine.

Carter Says He'll Veto Diluted Energy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, recoiling under repeated Senate blows to his energy plan, is fighting back with a veto threat and a plea to senators to resist what he views as undue oil industry influence.

But the Senate, according to Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, appears determined to "exercise its own independent will, despite what remarks are made from the outside."

The Senate scheduled more work today on natural gas pricing legislation after voting down Monday a new attempt to bring up President Carter's proposal for continuing controls on gas.

It was the second defeat of the day for the administration's plan, which has seen few encouraging moments since it sailed through the House last month.

In the other setback, the Senate Finance Committee rejected the President's proposal to force conservation by taxing U.S. crude oil, a central element of Carter's energy program.

However, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., the committee chairman, claims the vote may not completely kill the tax, which would add about seven cents a gallon to the prices of gasoline and other petroleum products.

He planned another meeting later in the week in hopes of working out a compromise tax that could make it through the Senate.

The Senate also approved Monday a motion to limit debate in an effort to halt a filibuster led by a handful of Senate liberals opposed to any relaxation of gas price controls. The move allows each senator to speak for no more than an hour.

But the vote may have been a hollow victory for the Senate leadership.

Those staging the filibuster quickly switched to other tactics, including a demand for lengthy roll call votes on each of the nearly 400 pending amendments.

That appeared to guarantee Senate debate continuing through the week and possibly into next week.

Stung by the recent setbacks, Carter accused the oil and gas industry of trying to "jeopardize our energy future" by waging a heavy campaign in the Senate.

"The lobbying efforts of the oil and gas industry on deregulation (of natural gas prices) itself show how the special interests are trying to block enactment of the entire energy program," Carter told reporters Monday.

"I call on the Senate to act responsibly in the interests of the great majority of Americans to reject narrow special interest attacks on all segments of the national energy plan," he added.

That followed his warning over the weekend that he would veto any energy legislation lit-ing price controls from natural gas, as the industry is seeking and as the Senate approved as recently as 1975.

But Byrd said that neither Carter's veto warning nor House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's claim that the House would flatly reject a deregulation bill will have much influence in the Senate.

The West Virginia Democrat said, "When (the bill) gets on the President's desk, then it will be in his ball park and he can exercise what constitutional rights he wants."

Until then, Byrd said, it is up to the Senate — and not the President or the Speaker of the House — to decide what to do with the legislation.

Carter wants to keep federal controls on natural gas while raising the present $1.46-per-1,000-cubic-foot lid on interstate gas to $1.75. He would also extend that price ceiling to the unregulated markets within gas-producing states.

Oldsters, Singles Suggested To Handle Pesticide DBCP

By MERRILL HARTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Older people and those who don't intend to have children could be recruited to handle DBCP, a pesticide suspected of causing sterility, says a national agricultural organization.

The National Pesticide Council made the proposal to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration as an alternative to government restrictions "which have had the effect of halting production" of the pesticide.

The idea was offered to the government by Robert K. Phillips, executive secretary of the peach council, an agricultural organization representing the interests of peach growers.

In a Sept. 12 letter to Dr. Eula Bingham, administrator of OSHA, Phillips accused the government of overreacting to evidence of sterility in a dozen male workers at Dow Chemical Co.'s DBCP plant at Magnolia, Ark.

In a telephone interview today, Phillips said the suggestion was made in good faith and sincerity. He acknowledged, however, that there has been no response from Dr. Bingham.

"They may think I'm doing it tongue-in-cheek, but I'm not," said Phillips, whose organization is based in Martinsburg, W. Va. "All these government agencies over-do everything. I know they carry things to extremes. They should at least consider alternatives to banning this material."

OSHA and the Environmental Protection Agency, responding to pressure from union and consumer groups, imposed emergency restrictions on the handling of DBCP after learning of the sterility problem at the Arkansas plant last month.

Mt. Hood May Heat Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Northwest Natural Gas Co. says it hopes to tap volcanic Mt. Hood to provide a "renewable and essentially inexhaustible" reservoir of hot water for Portland. A projected five years of research and construction begins Thursday with drilling on two small exploratory wells designed to test geologists' belief that hot water is available in a 10,000-acre area 43 miles from Portland. The initial goal is to supply factories.

Treaty Language Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opening round of hearings on the new Panama Canal treaty has raised yet another question about the pact which already faces an uphill fight for Senate ratification. During Monday's hearing, Sen. Dick Stone, D-Fla., asked administration witnesses about recent remarks attributed to Romulin Escobar Bethancourt, the chief Panamanian negotiator. Bethancourt reportedly told his legislature: "We are not giving the United States the right of intervention." But U.S. negotiator Sol Linowitz dismissed the Panamanian's remarks, insisting, "No matter what he says, we have the language in the treaty." The treaty provides for the United States to relinquish control over the canal to Panama in the year 2000. A companion treaty would guarantee the neutrality of the Canal Zone.

Child Porn Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring that sexual exploitation of children has reached those of preschool age, Rep. Dale E. Kildee, D-Mich., is calling for Senate approval of a House bill that would make it a federal crime to use children in pornography. "Just as pernicious as the sweat shops in the early part of the century which left physical scars are the modern-day conditions which leave psychic scars," Kildee said Monday. "Cold-hearted abuse in the pursuit of profit is a particularly heinous crime." Some members of the House Judiciary Committee are warning, however, that Kildee's measure may be so broad that it violates the First Amendment rights of freedom of speech and expression.

Torrijos Less Red Than FDR?

PANAMA, Panama (AP) — Panamanian strongman Omar Torrijos says he's a "little less" Communist than Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy and a "lot less" Communist than President Abraham Lincoln. The 48-year-old brigadier general, in a marathon, three-day interview with three American correspondents, conceded that he admires President Fidel Castro of Cuba but said he is "conservative in some things, progressive in others." He said there was little he could do to dispel the view among American opponents of the new Panama Canal treaty "that I am a dictator and a Communist." But he invited one of his leading American critics, Ronald Reagan, to visit him and see for himself. "Ronald Reagan will only be convinced by talking to me that he is honestly mistaken on this issue," said Torrijos. "... But please tell him also to stop calling me a tin-horn dictator. At least wrap me in copper or something else."

Cure For Academy Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's military academy at West Point should offer new courses on ethics and sex education, produce winning football teams, and develop a sense of humor, a Pentagon study says. The 175-year-old Army institution is suffering from poor morale, a lack of supervision and planning, overburdened cadets, resistance to change and even a pervasive lack of humor, according to the 200-page report released today.

Senate OKs Biztax Revision

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Although the Senate has approved a revision in the state's controversial business tax, the final draft is a long way off and the details remain unclear.

The Senate gave overwhelming approval Monday night to a bill designed to ease the tax burden on small and low-profit businesses, while taxing corporate profits more heavily.

But the bill, passed 28-2, faces an uncertain future in the House, which is considering its own proposal. Gov. William Milliken has submitted a third approach to ironing out problems in the nearly two-year-old single business tax.

Even as the bill passed, several senators noted that the House, under veteran Taxation Committee Chairman George Montgomery, has generally set the tone of tax policy in the week promised to be busy, with the House slated to take up a bill easing marijuana penalties and the governor's veto of a bill designed to give law-

tax. "This bill will provide genuine relief for small business," said Sen. Patrick McCollough, its author, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a candidate for governor next year.

An aide to McCollough said the measure would provide more than $100 million in tax breaks to small and unprofitable firms. Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis, who offered the amendment to repeal the tax and has drafted his own revisions, said McCollough's bill "probably goes too far...but is a good starting point."

The lost revenue would be recouped by increasing the tax on profits, putting a larger burden on big and profitable businesses.

The single business tax, which took effect Jan. 1, 1976, was designed to simplify taxes, stabilize revenues and promote jobs and economic growth by providing tax breaks for big corporations.

But it immediately drew angry protests from small firms, professionals and others who said their taxes skyrocketed. McCollough's bill would do the following: —Cut the single business tax from 2.35 per cent to 1.2 per cent, based, as now, on profits, payroll, interest and depreciation. But unlike now, it would tax all depreciation occurring before the tax took effect. Instead of 50 per cent of depreciation.

—Offer small firms a new tax calculation of 5 per cent of gross profits, with a $25,000 exemption for each of up to five owners. Businesses with gross profits of less than $65,000 and gross revenues of under $5 million would pay little or no tax.

—Impose a 7.8 per cent tax on corporate profits, similar to the old tax on such profits. The 7.8 per cent includes the 1.2 per cent business tax plus an additional 6.6 per cent.

—Phase out special tax breaks for various businesses. Voting against the bill were Sens. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, and John Weiborn, R-Kalamazoo.

Final Draft Long Way Off And Details Are Unclear

state. The final version of the business tax revision is likely to be hammered out only in a conference committee with both chambers and the administration fighting for their provisions (page 2 of the tax bill was the only major action taken by either chamber Monday night. But the rest of the makers more control over the bureaucracy.

The business tax bill passed only after the Senate defeated, 18-12, an attempt to repeal the single business tax altogether. But opponents of that action warned that unless the House accepted the bill, they would switch and push to repeal the man of the Senate Finance Committee and a candidate for governor next year.

An aide to McCollough said the measure would provide more than $100 million in tax breaks to small and unprofitable firms. Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis, who offered the amendment to repeal

Milliken To Defend PBB Action

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken will be given air time to try and counter a public television documentary claiming he was slow in responding to Michigan's massive PBB contamination problem.

All six public television stations in the state plan to carry a 30-minute response from the governor immediately following an Oct. 4 showing of the British-made documentary.

Kay Ingram, program director for WKAR-TV in East Lansing, said her station will film interviews with Milliken and five others linked to the state's actions against the toxic fire retardant.

Others are B. Dale Ball, state Agriculture Department director; Maurice Reizen, head of the state's Department of Public Health; Elton Smith, Michigan Farm Bureau president, plus Michigan State University biochemistry professors, Steve Aust and Lee Shull.

"The program is solely intended to be a response to allegations made in the documentary," Mrs. Ingram said.

The British program covers the PBB controversy from its onset in 1973 through last winter. It was shown in Great Britain during March.

But about 10 minutes of the 70-minute program are being deleted in this country to update it and fit it into a one-hour time slot. The changes were made by a producer at WETA, a public television station in Arlington, Va., which has bought the rights to show the film in the United States.

The film accuses state agencies, the governor, the Farm Bureau and the university of allowing PBB — polybrominated biphenyl — to spread almost unchecked for three years.

Michigan State is involved since it did tests for Farm Bureau in 1973 to determine what was causing problems in its feed. Later, the university gave state agricultural workers laboratory data backing the state's claim that small doses of PBB are not harmful.

The chemical accidentally was mixed into feed Farm Bureau sold across most of the state four years ago. Nearly 30,000 cattle and hundreds of thousands of chickens and eggs were destroyed because of PBB contamination.

Farm Bureau and Michigan Chemical Co., the PBB maker, have paid almost $38 million in settlements already, with more than 100 court suits for damages awaiting trial.

Stockman, Two Panels To Meet

Fourth District Congressman Dave Stockman, R-St. Joseph, will meet with two of his 11 advisory committees Saturday in Sturgis.

The three-hour sessions with the federal human resource delivery systems and education advisory committees begin the second round of meetings with the 11 committees.

Stockman selected the committee memberships last spring saying they were designed to "provide direct communication with local residents with expertise or involvement in various issue areas." The advisory committees meet twice a year, in the spring and fall.

The human resources committee will meet at the Sturgis Holiday Inn from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The education committee will meet from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the same location.

On the agenda for the human resources committee discussion will be President Carter's welfare reform plan, specifically the two-tier, offset rates, family treatment and eligibility determination methods. The education committee is scheduled to discuss federal mandates and requirements for the education of all handicapped children, and the emergency school assistance act which authorizes funds for school busing.

Legal Fight Eyed On Elevator Plans

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven Housing Commission last night authorized possible legal action to get design plans for an elevator in the senior citizens building here.

The commission authorized Executive Director Dennis DeVinney to start the action if information he obtains regarding a similar case in Lansing shows legal action could be successful.

The move would be against the Independent Elevator Co., Kalamazoo, which installed the elevator in 1972.

DeVinney told the commission the firm has declined to give the design plans since the firm lost the elevator maintenance contract to a Benton Harbor firm last year.

Commission action on the design plans came after it questioned a $210 service bill from the Benton Harbor firm, Montgomery Elevator Co.

According to DeVinney, the bill was up because the firm needed more time to do the maintenance without plans for electric circuits.

The senior citizens building is at 325 Indiana Ave. and is named Harbor View.

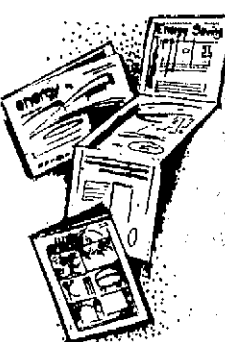

Montgomery won the maintenance service contract last year when it submitted low bid on the work.

MIAMI (AP) — The trial of a 15-year-old boy accused of murder opened here with a television camera panning the courtroom and TV violence the main topic of discussion.

ON TRIAL: Fifteen-year-old Ronald Zamora glances at prospective jurors Monday on opening day of his trial for murder in Miami, Fla. Zamora is charged with murdering his 81-year-old neighbor, Elinor Haggart, who lived alone in her Miami beach home. Agrella is to be tried separately in November.

Buchanan's Schools Get Audit Okay

BUCHANAN — School auditors told the Buchanan school board last night during a special meeting that the 1976-77 audit showed the school system was "extremely solvent."

Lloyd Miller, of the accounting firm of Crowe, Chizek & Co., South Bend, Ind., said the annual report showed the total general fund expenditures amounted to $2,962,002 with total revenue for the same period ending June 30, at $3,195,870. The district's fund equity now stands at $347,878, according to the report.

Some 18 citizens attended the meeting, but no questions concerning the report were asked.

SJ Store, Legion Post Penalized

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has ordered license suspension of American Legion Post 26, 1707 Miller Drive, Niles, and fined Froehlich's Little Super Store, 1007 Main Street, St. Joseph, for violations of license regulations.

The commission imposed three 30-day suspensions effective Oct. 10 in run concurrently against the Legion post for three violations that occurred June 24.

1. Offering for sale alcoholic beverages not purchased from an authorized state store.
2. Offering for sale beverages not purchased by and imported into state by MLCC or by prior authority of MLCC.
3. Failing to pay excise tax on alcoholic beverages.

Carter Overrules CAB On Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Travelers will be able to choose from two new transatlantic discount air fares approved by President Carter in time to compete with Laker Airways' low-cost "Skytrain" service.

In approving the air fares Monday, Carter overruled a recommendation of the Civil Aeronautics Board, which charged the new fares posed a threat to the charter airline industry. The CAB had approved a higher fare for the discount flights.

psychiatrists and psychologists, as well as actor Telly Savalas, as witnesses. The defense unveiled 44 exhibits with titles such as, "Violence on TV: An Unchecked Environmental Hazard."

Jury selection was stalled by arguing between Ellis Rabin, the defense attorney, and Tom Headley, assistant state attorney.

Ellis revealed that Zamora had been given an hypnotic drug at the Dade County Pretrial Detention Center Center, when Ellis, his wife and a psychiatrist visited the jail Thursday night.

A court source said the drug may have been used to induce a re-enactment of the crime.

Headley accused Ellis of making "some kind of play" and said anything Zamora may have said while under the influence of the drug would be "totally inadmissible" in court.

By the end of Monday's session, the two attorneys had excused a half-dozen prospective jurors and agreed on none.

Zamora and Darrell Agrella, 14, are charged with first-degree murder in the June 4 shooting death of Elinor Haggart, who lived alone in her Miami beach home. Agrella is to be tried separately in November.

Savalas and his "Kojak" series may figure in testimony next week, if Circuit Judge H. Paul Baker decides to require personal testimony after Savalas gives a deposition as scheduled on Oct. 5.

Rubin says the Haggart murder closely paralleled a Kojak show, although Savalas has said there was never any such Kojak episode.

Public television station WPBT made excerpts of the trial available to local and network television news crews. The station planned to play extended segments of two to three hours each night.

Television and still cameras are allowed in Florida courts as part of a one-year experiment.

'Quota' Ruling Could Snowball

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A ruling in favor of a white medical student who challenged a minority admissions program could bring an onslaught of lawsuits from other white applicants, the University of California's attorney says.

"There are a lot of other well-qualified applicants out there with every bit as much a complaint," said attorney Donald Reidhaar.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected, 2-1, on Monday the university's appeal of a lower court ruling allowing Rita Clancy, 22, to be admitted to the UC Davis branch.

Her attorney, Merritt Weissinger, said his law firm has turned away other rejected applicants seeking to challenge minority admissions policies because "anybody who gets turned down has our grapes."

"In those cases it would have been tough to prove they were turned down in favor of minority applicants. They might have been rejected anyway," he said.

He said Mrs. Clancy was first on the medical school's waiting list and would almost certainly have been admitted had it not been for the minority admissions program.

Weissinger said Davis' admissions policy was exclusive because it aside 16 places for minority students. Minority admissions policies at other schools are not as clear cut, he claimed.

Mrs. Clancy, a Russian immigrant, was described by her husband, Patrick, as "very nervous" on her first day of classes, Monday. Rather than answer questions herself, Mrs. Clancy referred reporters to her husband. She did say, however, "I'm happy to be in and I hope I can stay."

Although the NAACP had criticized Mrs. Clancy's admission, there were no protests or disruptions as she arrived for her class in cellular biology.

The university had asked that she be barred from entering until the U.S. Supreme Court decides the case of Allan Bakke, another white applicant who challenged Davis' program of reserving some classroom admissions for minority students.

Reidhaar, who along with former Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox and others, will argue the Bakke case before the high court Oct. 11, said he is not sure whether he will ask the Supreme Court to consider the Clancy case.

RAIDERS GRAB DETROIT (AP) — Bonds ranging from $7,500 to $15,000 were being set for 13 persons arrested on drug charges in pre-dawn raids in Detroit and six suburbs.

TEST CASE: The U.S. Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments in the reverse discrimination case of Allan Bakke on Oct. 12. Bakke contends a quota system for minority students kept him from being admitted to University of California medical school. (AP Wirephoto)

Church Bombing Suspect Held

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A 72-year-old white man was held without bond after being indicted on charges of first-degree murder in a 1963 church bombing in which four black youngsters were killed.

The church had been used as a meeting place for civil rights demonstrators.

Robert Edward Chambliss of Birmingham was arrested Monday after the indictments were handed up by a Jefferson County grand jury.

The charges stemmed from the Sept. 15, 1963, blast at the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church. Four girls died in a restroom area near the stairwell in which the explosion occurred, and 19 people were hurt.

The grand jury, which met for three months, considered evidence gathered by the Alabama attorney general's office in some 50 racial bombings in Birmingham in the late 1950s and early 1960s. No other indictments were announced.

Deputy Atty. Gen. George Deck, who handled the cases for the state, said more evidence would be submitted to future grand juries.

Commissioner Faces Censure

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Macomb County commissioner faces censure by her colleagues because she is skipping commission meetings, saying her expense allowance is almost exhausted. Caroline Skupny, D-Roseville, said she plans to attend today's meeting, but records show she skipped two committee meetings last week because her annual allotment for per-diem expenses was just about used up.

Several commissioners said a censure resolution against Mrs. Skupny may be introduced when the full board meets Wednesday. Board chairman Robert VerKullen said many commissioners attend committee meetings long after their per-diem expense allowance is exhausted. Mrs. Skupny refused to discuss the matter. Macomb County commissioners are paid a base salary of $6,924 annually. They also receive $35 for each meeting they attend up to an annual maximum of $3,000.

Coloma Township Zoning Hearing Set For Nov. 1

COLOMA — A public hearing was scheduled for Nov. 1, by the Coloma township planning commission last night on a rezoning request tied to a proposed senior citizens housing center.

John Sassano, president of Sassano Inc., St. Joseph, asked for the rezoning on about five acres to clear the way for the development.

The site is off Paw Paw Lake road behind the Coloma-Hilltop Center, which Sassano's firm also owns.

Sassano told the commission he is planning a 94-unit housing center for the site. Included would be 32 one-bedroom and 32 two-bedroom apartments.

James Friday, commission chairman, said no development costs were reported.

The zoning request, if approved, would change the site's use from commercial to multi-family.

An earlier proposal for a 48-unit senior citizens housing center on North Coloma road was turned down by the planning commission in March.

The proposal was presented by the township senior citizen building committee and would have cost an estimated $900,000 to $750,000.

In other areas, the planning commission tabled until its November meeting a request to release a little over nine acres of township property for annexation to the city of Coloma.

Two property owners, Mrs. Doris Adams and William Dale McReynolds, seek to be annexed to the city. Mrs. Adams property is the proposed site of an $840,000 apartment development. Both properties are located off Ryno road east of the existing Coloma city limits.

Coloma Bridge Plan Rejected

COLOMA — City officials here learned last night there will be no new Center street bridge through a state bridge program.

Commissioner Mrs. Wavia Noack read a letter from the state highway department informing the commission the bridge is not sufficiently long enough to qualify for the state's critical bridge replacement program.

The commission, earlier this summer, requested the city apply for funding to replace the structure as had been done in the replacement of the Logan street bridge.

In other areas, the commission set Monday, Oct. 10, at 8:30 p.m., as date for a hearing on amending the salaries of elected and appointed officials.

Under the proposed amendment, the city clerk's present salary of $9,724 would increase to $10,400, Nov. 14, 1977 and to $11,180 Nov. 13, 1978.

Other salary schedules included in the amendment are: city treasurer, $2,700 yearly; health officer, $300 annually; assessor, $4,500, annually.

According to City Clerk Patricia Beasley, salary hikes for city officials are considered every two years. If the amended salaries are approved, they become effective Nov. 9.

Commissioner William Weybright reported the Paw Paw Lake Sewage Operating board, of which he is a member, will meet Thursday to interview applicants for the position of plant superintendent.

The commission approved erecting a warning sign of a reduction of speed to motorists entering the city from the Paw Paw lake bridge.

A proposal to purchase a new four-channel police radio and citizen band radios for the police department was tabled.

Commissioner Harold Hammond announced the city's fall clean-up will be held Oct. 17 through Oct. 21.

The commission approved advertising for bids for a new street sweeper, with bids to be opened at 9 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Brown of 128 East St. Joseph street appeared before the commission complaining the new sidewalk being placed in front of their driveway is approximately seven inches higher than the drive.

The Browns' said it would be impossible for them to use their driveway unless the height of the sidewalk is reduced.

The matter was referred to the city's public works committee.

Covert Twp. To Review Bids On New Town Hall

COVERT — Wiatrowski Construction Co., South Haven, was the apparent low base bidder last night on construction of Covert Township's new hall.

The firm's bid was $208,500 and was one of five opened by the township board during a special meeting.

The township is planning an 82 by 56-foot colonial-style building for the new hall.

Other base bidders included: Dorr Construction Co., Dorr, $214,990; Holland Construction Co., St. Joseph, $243,000; Olson Brothers, South Haven, $246,583; and Superior Home Builders, St. Joseph, $268,700.

Lowest of four electrical bids was $19,696 submitted by Hunt's Electric Co. Home Heating & Air Conditioning, Holland, was lowest of two bidders at $18,192 for the heating contract. Field

Plumbing of Lawrence was lowest of two bidders at $18,993 for plumbing. Soundroom Inc., Kalamazoo, was the only bidder at $2,831 for a public address system.

All bids will be reviewed by the board and township architect Peter Futymoski before a decision is made on awarding contracts. That decision is expected at the township's Oct. 3 regular meeting.

The township has received a $270,000 public works grant from the U.S. Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration and $223,000 has been earmarked for the new hall. The remainder is to be used for the renovation and expansion of the present township hall into a police department building. In other areas, the board awarded a $9,600 contract to Orr Construction Co. for construction of a monument commemorating the proposed bicentennial park.

Leslie Cripps Associates, Berrien Springs, was awarded a $18,000 contract to oversee all phases of the township building program under the federal public works grant.

Three Gobles Administrators Get New Pacts, Pay Boosts

GOBLES — The Gobles school board last night gave two-year contracts and salary boosts to three administrators.

Receiving the new contracts were Supt. Guy Leversee whose yearly salary was boosted from $25,000 to $27,500; High School Principal Tommie D. Saylor whose salary was raised from $18,000 to $22,000; and Elementary Principal Randall D. Bos whose salary was raised from $18,000 to $20,000.

The new salary figures are for the first year of the new contracts only.

In other areas, the board awarded insurance contracts to the Garrett Agency, Inc., Kalamazoo. The year's premium for bus fleet, building and umbrella insurance will be $10,067, and for personal liability for school board members, $900.

The insurance is for the 1977-78 school year. A policy that prohibits student smoking on school property was adopted after the second reading by the board. The policy includes provisions for suspension of students who are caught with tobacco in their possession.

The board gave its approval of the transfer of the property of Mr. and Mrs. James DeKam from the Bloomingdale school district to the Gobles district.

The Bloomingdale board and the Van Buren Intermediate school board have yet to act on the transfer.

The DeKams live two miles west of Gobles at Mill Lake. She is a bus driver for the Gobles school system and the couple has two children.

The board approved spending $2,000 for varsity track and basketball uniforms and for seventh and eighth grade basketball uniforms.

Three Hundred Sign Pact

DETROIT (AP) — The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority and its 300 drivers have signed a new three-year contract, according to a SEMTA announcement. The drivers ratified the contract Sept. 16. The contract provides pay increases of 47, 25 and 25 cents an hour in each of the three years, bringing pay to $7.39 an hour.

Bangor To Pay $3,500

BANGOR — The Bangor City Council last night voted to share in the $6,500 purchase of a used fire truck for the Bangor Fire Department.

Purchase of the 1962 Ford that has a 3,000 gallon tank will be shared by the city and four surrounding townships that make up the fire district.

According to the council, the fire department will pay $3,500 of the purchase price with the balance to be split equally between the other fire district members.

The 1962 truck will replace a converted Army tanker that had a 1,600 gallon capacity, city officials said.

In other areas, Richard Rosga of the Bangor Merchants' Association presented the council a $500 check the association hopes will lead to increased use of Resort Park.

Rosga said the association would like to see the park on the Black River improved and licensed for overnight campers. The association's money is mostly intended for signs and advertisements to lure campers to the park, he told the council.

An ordinance setting closing hours for Charles Park was also approved by the council. The new hours closing the park between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. will take effect 20 days from now.

The council also voted to inquire about the purchase of the boiler at the former West Michigan Savings Bank building. The bank has moved to new quarters and the boiler could be converted for use at City Hall, city officials said.

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Much of downtown Paw Paw is going to get new sidewalks.

Harry Bush, public works superintendent, told the Village Council last night that under an $83,000 federal public works grant the village has received, it will be able to put new sidewalks along Michigan Avenue between Gremps and Niles streets and a short distance on Kalamazoo Street north and south of Michigan Avenue.

Bush reported that bids for the project will be received Oct. 18, with completion expected sometime next August.

He added that along with sidewalk replacement, it will also be necessary to replace some street lights.

In other areas, the council granted a building permit to developer Jack LaPine for a new 12-unit apartment building on the east side of Maple Lake near the old marina site.

Police Officer James DeGroot was awarded a citation for his July 21 arrest of two suspects in an attempted armed robbery of a motorist at the Coloma restaurant on I-94.

Police Chief George Fadel noted that Paw Paw police have received five citations for their work since 1975, including two from a statewide organization that deals with roadblocks.

Bush was given permission by the council to lower the level of Maple Lake Oct. 4-17 to enable property owners to do work on docks and retaining walls.

The council was also told that about 60 Grand Rapids area merchants will visit Paw Paw wineries on Oct. 18.

Emeritus members are Elisha Gray II, Martin Lane and Frederick S. Upton.

Chairman Tiscornia said: "This merger of the corporations into the new entity has for many years been recommended by hospital consultants who have studied our community. Also, it follows a nationwide trend toward consolidation of community health facilities under a single organizational structure."

The consolidation of the two hospital corporations into a single unit is the result of about a year of planning by the trustees.

Tiscornia said reason for the merger is that "since the Twin Cities area is essentially a single community and medical care for the area is supplied by the same physicians it seemed logical that hospital services for the area could best be planned, organized and provided by a single health care organization."

The firm of Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow and Trigg, of Detroit, made legal preparations for the merger. The firm has been involved in several other hospital mergers in Michigan during the past few years.

College Told To Rehire

DETROIT (AP) — Shaw College is being ordered to rehire with back pay 13 professors, including three who lost their jobs because of their union activities, says the National Labor Relations Board. Saturday's NLRB decision is the latest move in a two-year battle between the college and its teaching staff, which has been without a collective bargaining agreement since October 1975. The ruling came on Shaw's appeal of an April decision by a NLRB administrative law judge who ruled the college had failed to bargain in good faith with the Shaw College Professors Association. The judge, John F. Crowley, said three professors were fired for union activity. He ordered the three reinstated with back pay; and said 10 others who were dismissed in an economy move also should get back pay but need not be reinstated.

Judge Hits Early Convict Release

ment before Hammond Aug. 11. Ward broke away from a court officer as he was being led to a holding cell, and ran out of the courthouse.

He was captured within minutes by Sgt. Marvin Fiedler, of the Benton Harbor Police Department. Brought before Hammond last night, Ward pleaded guilty to a charge of escaping custody and was sentenced to serve a year in jail.

Hammond said he believes that Judge Byrns intended Ward to serve his full minimum term in prison and that Ward should not have been let out early. He said the DOC did not notify Byrns that Ward was being returned to Benton Harbor.

"I suppose in defense of the prisons," Hammond continued, "their problem is overcrowding and they haven't the money to expand. However, I think if the people in the state knew what the alternatives were, the money could be found to build new prisons."

Hammond said it seemed "outrageous" to him that people living near Saugatuck in Allegan county would so vigorously protest the establishment of a minimum security prison in a vacant seminary there when inmates are living in hotels all over Michigan. At least in the minimum security facility, the prisoners would be confined behind a double-chain-link fence with barbed wire on top, the judge said.

He said that in his opinion the DOC should have dramatized its overcrowding problem years ago by refusing to accept more convicts when prison beds were all filled up. That would have forced the state legislature into action, Hammond said.

Instead, the DOC has quietly been releasing convicts early to relieve overcrowding, he continued. "This has been slipped over on the public without anyone knowing about it," the judge said.

NY Power Blackout Is Averted

NEW YORK (AP) — Utility officials say lessons from last July's blackout were used to narrowly avoid the loss of electricity to New York City's nine million people.

"This time, the system operator took very prompt action, so we were in a position to withstand the problem," Arthur Hausburg, president of Consolidated Edison Co., said after the system returned to normal Monday.

Some 130,000 customers in Westchester County, just north of New York City, and in the Bronx were intentionally blacked out for about an hour Monday and voltage on the entire system was reduced by 8 per cent after Con Ed lost 40 per cent of its power.

PLEADS GUILTY

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Deborah Sale, the vice presidential aide arrested last month for sunbathing topless on a Long Island beach, has pleaded guilty to the charge.

Benton Harbor TV Cable Lines Halted

Yarbrough said. "I'm sick and tired of people coming into the city and ripping us off."

Jones said the property taxes from the office would not amount to much compared to the franchise fee the city will receive from the company. "You're comparing peanuts with dollars," he said.

The office the company is leasing in St. Joseph Township has personal property valued at $15,000, Jones said. The city will receive $1 for each installation plus $1 per customer each year in franchise fees, he said.

The cable television company began installing the cable lines in Benton Harbor and Benton Township earlier this year. About 150 homes on the city's south side are now receiving the cable television service, he said.

The contract dispute with the city does not affect installation work in Benton Township, according to Jones. He said Township Supervisor Catheryn Sirk signed the new contract with the new owners recently.

In other action, the commission approved a change in the budget of the Benton Harbor Housing Commission which will allow the housing commission to accept a special $98,500 federal grant to make repairs and improvements to low-income public housing.

The grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development will be used to replace windows and install individual gas meters at the 72-unit Russ Avenue project and the 84-unit McCord Street project; and install smoke detectors in each unit and install an emergency generator at Harbor Towers.

The commission voted to approve the first step of a request by Triax Tube Co. for a property tax reduction on equipment and rehabilitation work the company plans to make on two buildings it purchased at the bankrupt Benton Harbor Mallock Industries site.

Triax Tube is applying for a 50 per cent reduction in property taxes for 12 years for $352,000 worth of equipment and improvements it plans to make on the two buildings. The commission last night approved an industrial district designation for the Triax Tube site. The final step will come when commissioners consider granting Triax Tube an industrial facilities tax exemption certificate.

The commission also approved contracts with two pest control companies to provide termite treatment services on homes that are scheduled to be repaired under the city's Community Development rehabilitation program.

Contracts were approved with All-Time Pest Control to provide pest control services at 728 Pearl St., for $373; and 844 Columbus Ave., and 844 Columbus, for $305; and to Hull and Horton Pest Control, at 734 Columbus Ave., $285; 1238 Broadway, $250; 844 Pavone St., $240, and 828 Pearl, $250.

Today In MICHIGAN

Settlement Chance Vanishes?

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — The question of whether negotiations to settle Michigan's first PBB contamination trial had failed was up to a judge today. A spokeswoman for Wexford County Circuit Court Judge William Peterson said the judge would have something to say about the negotiations. The judge's spokeswoman was asked Monday about a report in the Grand Rapids Press that chance for an out-of-court settlement had almost vanished and that the judge was expected to announce resumption of the trial. She replied, "We hope not. We have not heard yet."

She did not deny the report. Attorneys in 83 cases claiming damages from the fire retardant held last-ditch meetings with a court-appointed mediator Monday in a final bid to avoid resuming the prolonged trial, it was reported. The trial recessed for negotiations in July after 16 weeks of testimony on a lawsuit filed by a Muskegon County dairyman and his wife.

Kidnap Suspect Bound Over

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — An Upper Peninsula prison escapee charged with kidnapping a woman for eight days remains behind bars on $100,000 bond after being ordered bound over to federal court for trial. No date was set for the trial of Douglas Henry, 22, of Lansing. U.S. Magistrate Steven Karr ordered Henry bound over Monday after a preliminary examination. Henry's $100,000 bond was continued. He was held in the Kent County Jail's maximum security section. Henry is charged with kidnapping Evelyn VanTassel, 38, of Marquette, from her cottage Aug. 25, three days after he fled a prison camp near Marquette, where he was serving two burglary convictions.

Grants Total $586,731

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Federal highway safety grants totaling $586,731 have been made to 13 state and local agencies to improve safe vehicle traffic in Michigan. The largest grant, $215,000, went to the state Department of Highways and Transportation to continue an inventory of traffic control devices on state and local roads and streets. The state program also trains local government employees to make their own inventories, and provides traffic engineering analyses at locations in 28 communities. Other grants went to Bronson, St. Johns, Midland, Flushing, Grand Rapids, the Kalamazoo Township police department, the Portage police department, the Muskegon police department, the Madison Township fire department, Blair Township, South Lyon, and Dickinson County Community Schools.

Trucker, Firm Accused

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Criminal warrants have been issued against a Lansing truck driver and his employer in connection with the collapse of a pedestrian overpass that injured six schoolboys. Ingham County Prosecutor Peter Houk said the charges were filed Monday against Eddie Jackson, Jr., 38, of Lansing and his employer, Spartak Trucking Co. of Lansing. Jackson was charged with careless driving while the company was accused of operating a two-ton vehicle without a special permit. The offenses are misdemeanors which carry a maximum penalty of a $100 fine or 90 days in jail.

It's Calm At River Rouge

RIVER ROUGE, Mich. (AP) — School officials say calm apparently has returned to River Rouge High School, where some 100 students took part in racial fighting last week. Police in this downriver Detroit city said they picked up about a dozen young men loitering around the school Monday after they ignored officers who told them to leave. A brief tussle ensued Friday between about 100 black and white students. Classes were dismissed early and one student was treated at a hospital for minor injuries. William E. McCullum, the high school principal, said misdemeanor charges may be filed against some of those who took part in last week's encounter.

Bow Slaying Charged

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — A Cadillac man accused of killing his brother-in-law with a bow and arrow during a family dispute stood Monday on a manslaughter charge. David Pratt also pleaded guilty to felonious assault in the case. But Wexford County Circuit Court Judge William Peterson said he will decide later whether to accept that guilty plea. Earlier this month, Pratt was ordered bound over to Circuit Court on those charges plus another count of assault and one of careless use of a bow and arrow. All the charges stem from the Sept. 4 slaying of Michael Ballard, 29, of Troy, at Pratt's home. State police said Pratt shot Ballard in the eye with an arrow during an argument.

Misleading Ads Charged

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state attorney general charges the Fretter Appliance Co. violated the state's Consumer Protection Act with misleading advertising. In a suit filed Monday in Wayne County Circuit, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley charged the Livonia-based appliance store chain with advertising "limited time only offers" for goods normally sold at the same or lower prices. The state is seeking a civil fine of up to $25,000 against the company and an order that it end such advertising. The attorney general says he gave Fretter an opportunity to avoid the court action by voluntarily stopping such ads in May. Atty. Gen. Clive Gennett said the company failed to change its policies. Company officials had no immediate comment.

Buchanan Still Fighting For County Court

BY JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — Still smarting over a May decision to locate a proposed south Berrien county courthouse in Niles, and not here, the Buchanan city commission struck back last night.

In an unanimous vote, the commission instructed its attorney to intervene in the controversy, including use of "any necessary legal action." The law firm of Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs, Buchanan, was directed to "pursue a course of action designed to influence or compel... location of a 'permanent court room' in the city. The resolution claims the city is eligible, under state law, to have a District court facility located in Buchanan. It adds that 'Judges of the Fifth District neglect and refuse to establish a court and to regularly sit within the borders of the city.'

Interviewed after the meeting, Atty. B.R. Desenberg declined to state what action he might take. "We'll always be polite," he added. Desenberg said that while the resolution addressed itself to location of a District court office in the city, it was aimed at getting the county board of commissioners to reconsider location of the south county building in Niles.

Despite protests from Buchanan officials, the county board of commissioners, on May 26, voted to accept Niles' offer of free land for the proposed building. A $1.166 million federal grant, which would be used to build the facility, has been tied up as a result of a suit filed by Benton township.

In other areas, the commission gave the green light to the planned first phase of improvements to the downtown business district. On a 4-1 vote, Mayor Richard Gault was authorized to sign a contract with John Yerington Concrete Co., Benton Harbor, to begin work on the project and negotiate a final price for the work. Planner Raymond Enfield, Architects Inc., Elkhart, Ind., said the commission's choice to include several alternates listed by Yerington would influence the final price. He estimated it would be between $295,000 and $387,000.

The Benton Harbor firm was the lowest of two firms to resubmit bids on the project after the commission said last week the original bids were too high. The city budgeted $275,000 for the work. Enfield said work on the project would begin soon, but would not be completed until next spring. It calls for improvement of a city parking lot off Dewey street, including sidewalks, expansion of the lot, landscaping and opening a section of McCoy's creek.

Explaining why he cast the lone no vote, Commissioner Reginald Ballaie said the project was "already $20,000 over budget." He added that he felt the parking lot could be resurfaced for a far less amount and that the city has received no commitment from merchants to improve the backs of stores that will face the improved parking lot. Voting yes were commissioners Bennett Jensen, Mildred Anderson, Gault and Gene Wesner.

Also last night, the commission approved spending $9,770 to make repairs to Schirmer parkway before winter weather sets in, and later deal with who is responsible for paying the bill. Commissioners contended the city should not have to foot the bill for repairing the $375,000 road which opened in 1975. Payment of a total of $4,744 to Consumer's Asphalt & Construction Co., Benton Harbor, for work to complete rebuilding Elizabeth and Bluff streets was approved. Robert Faulhaber, city manager, said the work would mark completion of a five-year project to improve streets in the northwest area of the city.

The commission approved paying Garden City Fan Co., Niles, $1,450 to make repairs on a leaf collector. Introduced for consideration was an ordinance spelling out how property seized by the police department is to be disposed of.

Search Continues For Man, $5,000

BY STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

NILES — Area police were continuing their search today for a Niles gas station manager who has disappeared along with over $5,000 in gas station receipts.

"We are assuming it was a robbery and an abduction," Capt. Ronald Immos of the Berrien County Sheriff's Department said this morning of the disappearance of Bobby Joe Stewart, 43. He was the night manager at the Pacer Service Station on US-31 north of Niles.

Immos said authorities have no leads as to what happened to Stewart who had worked at the station for about a year.

A sheriff's deputy found the door to the station open at about 3 a.m. yesterday. The top to the station's safe was also open and Stewart's car, with the keys still in the ignition, was parked close to the office, deputies reported.

Immos said, a nearby resident told deputies he heard two gunshots around 10:30 to 11 p.m. Sunday night. Immos said deputies have been unable to get a verification from other residents or to definitely link the reported gunfire to the disappearance of Stewart.

Stewart, described by a fellow worker this morning as "jibbering and easygoing," has a mother and three sisters and other relatives living in Niles.

The sheriff's captain said Stewart was not in any financial trouble that deputies have been able to determine.

Immos said the station chain's district manager had described Stewart as a "real reliable man."

With the lack of any indication to the contrary, "the only thing we can do right now is assume that it was a robbery and that Stewart was abducted," Immos said.

He added that based on gas pump meters and prior bank deposits, it is estimated that "over $5,000" in station receipts are missing.

Other mementoes from the air base include several photographs depicting his accomplishments.

Retirees Sue Kawneer And Union Over Benefits

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

NILES — Seventeen former Kawneer Co. workers have sued the company and the labor union to which they formerly belonged for over $1 million because of alleged unfair and illegal modification of retirement benefits.

Named as defendants in the federal suit filed in U.S. District Court in Grand Rapids were the company and the International Union of the Allied Industrial Workers of America.

The retirees, primarily of Niles, contend their benefits were bargained away in 1975 as the union and company reached agreement on benefits for 280 hourly workers put out of a job when the firm closed down two Niles production plants that year.

The retirees were represented at the time by Local 92 of the union, the organization representing the workers at the closed plants.

The suit claims that the union had no authority or right to bargain away vested rights of employees that had already retired prior to the July 28, 1975, company-union agreement.

Under the agreement, the suit claims, retirees' benefits were to end on Aug. 31 of this year, but that agreement was made without consulting retirees.

The 17 also claimed in the suit filed Sept. 20, that they were not told of the modification of retirement benefits until Aug. 9, about 22 days before the termination date.

Coverage for medical, surgical, hospitalization and pharmaceutical costs, and for life insurance, were among benefits modified or scheduled for termination in the 1975 agreement, the suit claims.

The plaintiffs claimed they were guaranteed the certain retirement benefits in a company-union agreement of May, 1974, and that the company and union acted illegally in cancelling those benefits and depriving plaintiffs of vested contractual rights.

The suit was filed for the retired workers by Edward M. Yampolsky, head of the Berrien County Legal Services, and Mary Ellen Drolet, an attorney with the organization's Senior Law center for senior citizens in Niles.

Attorney Drolet said she has asked the court to make the suit a class action one because it is believed there may be another 100 other former Kawneer workers who retired prior to July 28, 1975.

Hearings on the suit have not been scheduled yet, she said. She said the suit may be a precedent-setting, law reform case because of the contention that employers must bargain with retirees before modifying retirement benefits.

The plaintiffs are seeking $1 million in special and punitive damages plus $10,000 each in actual alleged damages and the restoration of all retirement benefits.

Kawneer officials had no comment yesterday on the suit.

The company still has its corporate headquarters in Niles. It has eight plants in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Texas and California.

Local 92 of the Allied Industrial Workers was dissolved when the 280 hourly workers lost their jobs in 1975.

Miss Drolet identified the plaintiffs as Clarence and Dorene Asmus, Charles Buck, Elmer Burgess, Howard Elsie, George P. Fletcher, A.W. Gentry, Russell Hoover, Glenn Jones, Albert Klatt, Harold Lewis, Carl W. Reum, William Schlosser, Walter Schmidt and Vernon Vandenburg, all of Niles; Emory Lawson of Dowagiac; and James Monahan of Bilety in Newaygo County.

MSU Regional Center Offering 25 Courses

Registration is now underway for 25 Michigan State University courses that will be offered at 15 locations in southwestern Michigan through the MSU Regional Center in Benton Harbor.

Dr. Albert Mowery, center director, said 18 of the courses are on the graduate level. Among new courses this fall are glacial geology, career development services, introduction to family intervention, language disorders in children, school finances for school personnel, ecosystem analysis and environmental program design.

Mowery said the center also is taking registrations for the "Course by Newspaper" under the title "Crime and Justice in America." Students taking the course should subscribe to the Sunday edition of The Grand Rapids Press and buy a textbook and study guide. Tuition for three credit hours is $87.

Information on all classes is available at the center, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor, or by calling the center, 925-0692.

In the area of non-credit activities, Dr. William Glasser author of "Schools Without Failure" will present a two day workshop in Kalamazoo on the basic concepts of "Reality Therapy." The workshop will be Nov. 29 and 30. The fee is $20, and advance registration is required.

Mowery said "in spite of the down trend in college enrollment the MSU Center is experiencing a very good level of enrollment. For example, in the summer term of 1976 the center produced 1,066 student hours compared with 1,066 in 1977."

He said the "Master of Arts in Classroom Teaching" program is continuing under direction of Dr. Patrick DeMarle with about 75 candidates for the MACT degree.

River Valley Issue Up For Third Time

THREE OAKS — River Valley, school district residents are going to get a third chance to vote on a proposal to build a new middle school and make major improvements to elementary schools at Chikaming, New Troy and Three Oaks.

The River Valley School Board last night voted to put a $3,715,000 bond issue that would finance the construction on a special, Nov. 14 election ballot.

The construction package has been defeated twice previously. Proposals for $3.55 million bond issues were defeated in September, 1975, and again in September, 1976.

The board last night also accepted the recommendation of a citizens' blue ribbon committee that the middle school be built on 18 acres of school-owned land next to the high school.

Sharing of athletic facilities by high school and middle school students would be a major cost savings, Mike Mendus, a committee member said.

The new middle school would replace middle schools in New Troy and Three Oaks. Both are about 50 years old.

Also last night, the board accepted the lone bid of $8,517 submitted by Fenner Roofing and Sheet Metal Co. of Sodus for repair and replacement of 308 feet of flat roof on the high school building. A flexible cover will be put over the roof. There had been water leaks through expansion joints, school officials said.

The board also voted to pay $2,625 for an engine analyzer for the auto mechanics class. The machine will be purchased from Sun Electric Corp. of Chicago.

The board accepted an interest-free $34,000 loan from the Bank of Three Oaks. The loan will finance the student construction of a home that will be later sold to pay back the loan. The construction project is part of the high school building trades class.

The board accepted the resignation of Daniel C. Balog, the school's director of bands who had been on a year's leave of absence. Balog wrote the board that he is accepting other employment.

A budget work session was set for 7 p.m., Oct. 10. It will precede the board's regular meeting scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

The school's 1977-78 budget is to be presented for adoption at the board's Oct. 24 meeting.

Appeals Meet Moved Ahead

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman zoning board of appeals will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. instead of Wednesday night, City Clerk Phyllis Weber announced. The clerk said the change was made because of another meeting scheduled for Wednesday night. The zoning board will meet in the city hall.

Harbert Vineyard Holds 'Weinfest' This Weekend

HARBERT — Wine fanciers have yet another chance to indulge themselves in what is becoming a popular southwestern Michigan autumn tradition: wine festivals. Lakeside Vineyard here will hold its third annual "October Weinfest," Friday through Sunday. The producers of Lakeside and Molly Pitcher wines have joined other larger and similar-sized wineries in this part of the state in an effort to popularize Michigan wines by holding wine festivals that include tours, tastings, foods and other activities. A Lakeside spokesman said last year's weinfest drew 10,000 people.

Hours for the weinfest this year are noon to 8 p.m. on Friday, 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday, according to a Lakeside spokesman. Besides the tours and the wine tasting tent, activities this year include a sausage and cheese market, a one-man German band, amusement rides for children, a flea market, a farmers' market, artists' exhibits and booths set up by church organizations and civic groups, the Lakeside spokesman said. The weinfest is open to the public. The winery is located at 13801 Red Arrow highway, near Harbert.

Mayoral Recall Fails

PORT SANILAC, Mich. (AP) — A campaign to recall the president of the village of Port Sanilac has failed. When the votes were counted Monday night, 102 residents had favored the ouster of Jean Moss, elected 17 months ago, while 140 wanted to keep her. Her opponents alleged, among other things, that she lacked leadership, caused dissension among village employees and violated minor ordinances. She denied all the allegations.

U-M Medical School Ranked 8th In U.S.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The reputation of the University of Michigan Medical School is the eighth best among the nation's 94 medical schools, a study says. Harvard was ranked first in the study by Columbia University and underwritten by the National Science Foundation. It was based on opinions of more than 2,000 physicians and scientists. The study ranks the schools in terms of their "perceived reputations," mostly among faculty members, U-M said Saturday. Harvard was followed in order by Johns Hopkins University, Stanford, University of California-San Francisco, Yale, Columbia, Duke, Michigan, Cornell and Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

Browns Upset Patriots On Cockcroft's OT Field Goal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns Coach Forrest Gregg watched intently during overtime as his team moved steadily toward the New England goal line.

Suddenly, defensive backfield coach Billy Kinard broke into his thoughts with a surprising suggestion.

"Why not get it?" Kinard said, referring to a field goal attempt.

Gregg gave it some thought, quarterback Brian Sipe tried to talk him out of it and — after the coach rejected Sipe's plea — Don Cockcroft calmly booted a 35-yard field goal to give the Browns a 30-27 National Football League victory over the Patriots.

The Browns won the toss and received the kickoff in the fifth period. Sipe felt he had good reason to try to veto his coach, since he had directed the Browns from their own 28-yard line to New England's 17. It was second-and-nine when Cockcroft connected on his third field goal of the see-saw game 4:45 into the extra period.

A crowd of 78,416 at Cleveland Stadium and a national television audience watched as Cockcroft's kick stayed barely inside the right upright, giving Cleveland, 2-0, its second straight upset victory.

"I felt we have a field goal kicker who can get it through the uprights," Gregg explained.

Cockcroft, whose second 37-yard field goal of the night had given the Browns a short-lived 27-24 lead with 55 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, agreed enthusiastically with Gregg's decision.

"I was ready at 50 yards," he said. "I hit some 55-yarders in practice."

New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks said, "I was not necessarily surprised by the field goal at that point. He was close enough to make it and they weren't risking a fumble or loss."

What made the loss more bitter for the Patriots, 1-1, was the fact they blew leads of 17-7 and 24-17. They got a new life when quarterback Steve Grogan moved the team 72 yards in six plays, setting up a tying 34-yard field goal by John Smith with no time remaining in regulation play.

"If we would have got the ball, we would have scored again. But Cleveland won the toss in overtime," said New England tight end Russ Francis, who caught one of Grogan's two scoring passes and lugged a 26-yard loss to Cleveland's 17 with just one second left in the fourth quarter.

Sipe also passed for two touchdowns, one of them to running back Greg Pruitt, who also threw a five-yard scoring pass on an option play and darted for 151 yards in 26 carries.

Grogan finished with 15 completions in 23 passing attempts for 172 yards, seven of them to fullback Sam Cunningham, who also netted 70 yards on 18 running plays.

Bo Gets Wish....Michigan No. 3

Oklahoma Ranked No. 1

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler, who asked newsmen a week ago not to vote his team No. 1 in The Associated Press college football poll, got his wish today.

The Wolverines, who squeaked past Navy 14-7 after struggling to beat equally-unheralded Duke 21-9, dropped in third place in this week's poll behind Oklahoma and Southern California.

Oklahoma, the preseason leader, surrendered the top spot to Michigan for the first two weeks of the season but climbed from third place back to No. 1 by nipping Ohio State, last week's No. 4 team, 28-25.

The Sooners received 23 first-place votes and 1,164 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of 63 sports writers and broadcasters.

Southern Cal., a 51-0 winner over Texas Christian, actually received one more first-place ballot than Oklahoma but the Trojans only totaled 1,116 points to remain No. 2.

Then came Michigan with eight first-place votes and 961 points, compared to last week's 42 and 1,094.

Penn State continued to climb, rising from fifth to fourth with seven first-place votes and 860 points after a 27-9 whipping of Maryland. The Nittany Lions were followed by Texas A&M, up from sixth to fifth with no first-place votes but 700 points thanks to a 33-17 victory over Texas Tech. The loss dropped the Red Raiders from eighth to 13th.

Next came Ohio State with 801 points, followed by Colorado with 861. The Buffs, seventh last week, trounced New Mexico 42-7.

The remaining first-place ballot went to Texas, which had the weekend off. The Longhorns, who have outscored their two opponents 112-0, received 490 points in climbing from ninth to eighth.

Florida, 15th a week ago, defeated Mississippi State and cracked the Top Ten, vaulting to ninth place with 395 points. Rounding out the Top Ten is Alabama with 320 points. The Crimson Tide, also 10th a week ago, defeated Vanderbilt 24-12.

The second Ten consists of Nebraska, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Notre Dame, Brigham Young, Pitt, California, Mississippi State, Houston and Arizona State.

Last week, it was Notre Dame, Mississippi State, Florida, Nebraska, Washington State, Arkansas, West Virginia, UCLA, Houston and Brigham Young.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, posted records and total points. Polling based on 28-10-14-12-10-9-7-5-4-3-2-1.

Texas A&M May Be Best

Aggies Would Be Schembechler's Pick

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bo Schembechler insists it isn't part of his hype for Saturday's game, but the Michigan football coach says he'd rank Texas A&M No. 1 in the country and that the Aggies will be favored over the Wolverines.

Schembechler knows Michigan, ranked first the last two weeks, won't be on top today when the latest Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters is released.

"We'll be down somewhere around the second five," he told reporters at his weekly news luncheon.

He said he thought Southern California, Texas A&M, Penn State, Oklahoma and Texas might be rated ahead of his Wolverines — who are coming off a modest 14-7 triumph over Navy, which lost 70-14 to Michigan a year ago.

In the poll released today, Oklahoma is ranked No. 1, Southern Cal. No. 2, and Michigan is third. Penn State is ranked fourth and Texas A&M is ranked fifth. Rounding out the top ten in spots six through ten are Ohio State, Colorado, Texas, Florida and Alabama.

"Texas A&M may be the best team in the country," Schembechler said. "I'm just saying what's gonna happen. I suspect if I was voting right now I'd vote A&M (first)."

Asked if that was strictly strategy, since the Aggies play Saturday at Michigan, Schembechler said, "Nope."

"Before the season started I said after the Texas Tech game they'd be first, second or third."

While Michigan was struggling to beat Navy, A&M was defeating Texas Tech 33-17 as barefoot kicker Tony Franklin booted field goals of 48, 25, 51 and 37 yards. Texas A&M was ranked sixth in last week's poll.

"This is a great football team coming in here," Schembechler said. "It isn't just a good one. There's no question we'll be the underdog."

Despite Michigan's unimpressive triumph over the Middles, Schembechler told reporters, "I'm not as down on my team as you people are. We've struggled through because of injury problems. We've got improvement to do. But we played better teams than sports writers will give credit for."

A week earlier the Wolverines coaching staff didn't select an offensive "Champion of the Week" from the 21-9 triumph over Duke. This week, however, Jackie Mike Kettin got the award for getting an 82 percent blocking rating.

Defensive "Champion" was tackle Curtis Greer, who was in on eight tackles, including two for losses.

Offensive "hustler" of the week is center Walt Downing, while safety Jim Pickens was the defensive hustler.

Others singled out were safety Dwight Hicks for his work on the kick team, quarterback Roger Betts for his scout team performance in practice and guard Tom Wandersleben as "Rookie of the Week."

FORGOT SOMETHING: Cleveland Browns tackle Mickey Sims (78) runs right past fumbled football in first quarter action against the New England Patriots Monday night in Cleveland. The Browns' Charlie Hall recovered his own fumble on the play, and Cleveland went on to an overtime victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Former Piston Star Bing Ends Basketball Career

DETROIT (AP) — Dave Bing, the 14th leading scorer in National Basketball Association history, is retiring as a player after 11 seasons.

Bing, who will be 34 in November, said he turned in his formal letter of retirement to the NBA office on Friday.

Bing, who played for the Detroit Pistons for 10 years before being traded to the Washington Bullets last season, said he had no immediate plans for his future.

He said he had no intention of returning to the Bullets this season and had decided to pass up offers from other NBA clubs.

The 6-foot-3 guard was the Pistons' No. 1 draft choice in 1966 after a brilliant college career at Syracuse.

In his NBA career, he scored nearly 17,000 points. His 5,000 career assists placed him sixth on the all-time list in that category.

Bing, who was relegated to fourth guard and saw little action last season, said he thought about retirement all summer.

"When I came back to town and started working out with some of the guys in Detroit, I thought I might change my mind," Bing said. "But after the guys left for training camp and I got away from it for a while, I decided to go ahead and do it."

Champ's Big Mouth Builds Needed Fight Interest

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The Dixieland jazz band, Smith Street Society, struck up "Muskrat Ramble" and "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Muhammad Ali circled the rain-soaked skating rink like a restless black panther, holding his right fist over his head and yelling at the top of his lungs:

"I can't wait. I want him. I gotta have him. I am the greatest. I will destroy him."

Over in the corner, the band, composed of four musicians wearing 1890 mustaches, white bowler straw hats and red garters on their sleeves, quickly swung into another refrain:

"That's a Plenty."

Earnie Shavers, hiding his billiard ball bald pate under a baseball cap, was a forlorn, lost figure in the milling crowd.

"The hardest puncher in boxing," yelled tub-thumper John Condon, trying vainly to draw attention to the challenger.

"Yea, Ali, you're the greatest!" bellowed the crowd, pushing against the iron railing of Manhattan's Rockefeller Center Bink and straining for a look at the drama below.

bearded, 33-year-old journeyman heavyweight who several times has been on the verge of retirement.

The script never changes.

Shaved-head Shavers. Looks like a middleweight beside the imposing Ali. He boasts 52 knockouts in 54 ring victories yet he has lost to guys whose names would be hard to find in Ring Magazine. The most impressive thing about him is his sinister Fu Manchu mustache and a punch that's reported to have an impact of 300 MPH — if it lands.

It's a so-what fight, although prime TV fare (NBC), and it needs all the press agency that can be mustered. That was the reason for Monday's fleeting preview in a misty rain in the heart of the city.

Condon is a medicine man at this sort of stuff, a throwback to Cash 'n Carry Pyle and Tex Rickard, but he is a useless commodity when Ali is around. The champ generates his own waves, whether he be in Bangkok, Kinshasa or Manila.

All and Shavers were supposed to do some sparring on the skating rink but the weather conditions nullified it so it was "Take it away, Ali!"

"I am the prettiest, the fastest, the dancingest, the smartest, the greatest fighter that ever lived," Ali screamed over the loud speaker.

Inside, calloused press men filled their plates with shrimp, stewed pork, rice and boiled potatoes, and ignored the fanfare.

"If he even dreams about beating me, he gotta wake up and apologize," Muhammad said.

"Muhammad should retire," said Shavers. "If he shows up, I'm gonna knock him out."

The radio and TV men spot the Yankees' Reggie Jackson and suddenly desert the fight's main events.

"This guy (Ali) is supernatural, inhuman," Reggie spoke softly into a dozen radio recorders. "He does everything he says he will. A lot of people want him to get whipped because of his big mouth. But that big mouth has given the world a lot of enjoyment."

Going To Pontiac For 1978-79

Pistons Move Is Official

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons are confirming one of the worst kept secrets in pro sports. They will move their National Basketball Association games to the Silverdome in suburban Pontiac.

Rumors of the move were rife for weeks with various newspaper and broadcast accounts detailing how it would be made in the 1978-79 season.

The Pistons, who issued a long string of no comments on the reports, made the official announcement at a news conference Monday.

The Pistons drew only about 7,000 fans a game to Cobo Hall in downtown Detroit last year despite making the playoffs. They hope the Pontiac location, with its nearby affluent suburbs and superhighway network, will mean bigger attendance.

Bears Third In Jamboree

KALAMAZOO — St. Joseph golfers ended in third place Monday in the Big Eight jamboree held at Millham Park.

The Bears finished with 331. Battle Creek Lakeside captured first with 317, with Portage Northern second at 330. Niles was fourth at 334, Portage Central 338, Holland 348, Kalamazoo Central 350 and Loy Norrix 351.

Chris Rose led the Bears with 78. Dave Ankl shot 80, Max Ketschull 86 and A.J. Ziernke 88. Lakeside's Kevin Beard was medalist with 75. Rob Heidler topped the Vikings with 79.

MINNESOTA STINGY

The NCAA added a new category in basketball statistics for the 1976-77 season; field goal percentage defense. Minnesota had the top figure, 69.

seats with facilities to add another 10,000 seats quickly if needed to meet fans' demand.

A Pistons official said that, to offset complaints last year that the Silverdome was cold for some of the rock concerts and other events, the stadium will guarantee a constant temperature of 73 degrees when the Pistons move.

The Pistons will play out the 1977-78 season at Cobo Arena.

They had been playing $1,500 a night rental at Cobo and will pay $14,000 to the Silverdome.

Chambers' Knee Problem Serious

CHICAGO — Wally Chambers has a "serious knee problem" because arthritis is wearing away the surface under his right kneecap, according to sources close to the Bear's defensive star.

Chambers is making satisfactory progress, but he will not be able to return to action Sunday against New Orleans. Surgery may eventually be necessary to smooth out the damaged surface, shortening Chambers' career.

BUCHANAN — Capturing the first four places, Buchanan's cross country team ran past River Valley 18-46 in a Blossomland conference dual meet Monday. John Dougherty was the first for Buchanan in 10:03. Dennis Decker came in second, followed by Erik Mollberg and Tom Lear for the Bucks. River Valley's Greg Shaffer was fifth, with Buchanan's Mark Eptonman and Rick Bullock coming in sixth and seventh, respectively. Buchanan is now 2-1 in league meets and 6-1 overall.

Yankees Closing In On AL East Title

Cubs Delay Philly Clinching

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Yankees have it all figured out. If they win their remaining six games, it doesn't matter what the second-place Boston Red Sox do. "We want to do it ourselves," second baseman Willie Randolph said after the Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 4-2 Monday night. "We don't want any help from anybody."

The Yankees have a 1 1/2-game edge over the Red Sox, who have seven games left to play after having Monday's contest against Toronto ruined out. New York's "magic number" is four — any combination of Yankee victories and Boston losses totaling four — to capture its second straight American League East title.

"I can't worry about the Red Sox," said Yankee Manager Billy Martin. "I don't care if they win a doubleheader tomorrow as long as we win."

In the other AL game played Monday, Oakland crushed Kansas City 7-1. In the National League, Chicago downed Philadelphia 10-7, Atlanta beat Houston 12-10, Montreal defeated St. Louis 9-5 and San Francisco clobbered Los Angeles 8-1.

Hunter Orange Law Starts Saturday

Starting Saturday, firearm hunters must wear hunter orange, says the Department of Natural Resources.

The new rule, aimed at reducing accidental shootings, requires hunters to wear either a vest, jacket or cap of a highly visible color commonly referred to as hunter orange.

The new law does not affect persons hunting waterfowl from a blind or boat, persons hunting bobcat, crow, or wild turkey or bow and arrow hunters.

James R. Walker, DNR hunting safety specialist, says the use of hunter orange has already become popular with many hunters.

"The wide use of hunter orange contributed to the low rate of hunting accidents, we had last year," he says.

There were five fatalities during the 1976-77 hunting season and 14 during the 1975-76 season. "Safety conscious hunters have already been using hunter orange," Walker points out. "Hunter orange has reduced accidental shootings in other states where it has been required. Many states report an extreme reduction in accidental shootings," he says. "Massachusetts reduced accidents by 88 per cent."

Walker predicts hunter orange will reduce accidents in three categories: victim out of sight of shooter, victim in line of fire, and victim mistaken for game. The last category, victim mistaken for game, is commonly referred to as "early blur," Walker says. "It means shooting at something that's not there."

"That type of accident will almost entirely be prevented by the use of hunter orange," he says.

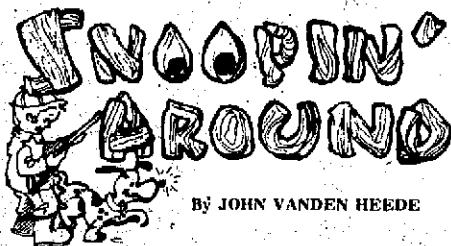

But Walker emphasizes that hunter orange will not eliminate accidents caused by careless handling of firearms. "In the end, it is up to the individual to make sure he handles his firearm safely," Walker says.

A WHOPPER: Russell Sink, 61, retired last May after 36 years with the Benton Harbor public works department. He has done some fishing, and Sunday produced this result—a whopper largemouth bass that Sink said weighed 7 pounds, 4 ounces. Sink said he caught bass before sunrise while fishing from a boat in about eight feet of water on Lake Cora, just east of Lawrence, Van Buren county. Sink said he didn't have a net, but was aided by his son, Dan Sink, 26. Fish was reported caught with red and white "crazy crawler" surface bait. Elder Sink said it's biggest he has ever caught and he plans to have it mounted. Sink said he sold his home after retiring and now lives in House of David trailer park, Benton township. By JOHN VANDEN HEED

The most dangerous months for car-deer accidents are coming up, so southwestern Michigan motorists are urged to be extra alert.

In 1976, 23 persons were injured in car-deer accidents in Berrien, Cass, Van Buren and Allegan counties. Fortunately, there were no fatalities among 374 reported accidents.

But two persons were killed statewide in the 14,349 accidents recorded by the Department of Natural Resources—one in Wayne county and another in Presque Isle county.

In southwestern Michigan, Berrien county had 103 car-deer accidents and six injuries. Cass had 181 mishaps and seven injuries, Van Buren 115 and five injuries and Allegan 195 and five injuries.

Kent and Jackson counties topped the state with 543 and 501 accidents, respectively. They also led in injuries with 35 and 42, respectively.

October, November and December are the most dangerous months for motorists, states the DNR.

David M. Jenkins, DNR wildlife division chief, says more deer are killed during this period primarily because of the deer mating season and hunter activity, which keeps the whitetails on the move.

"There are well over one million deer in the state," Jenkins says. "There are a lot of deer and a lot of cars. If you see a deer standing alongside the road, assume it will do the worst possible thing because it probably will. And the worst possible thing is jumping right through your windshield."

Slow down when you see a deer, he says. And note the deer area signs on the highways, and believe them.

When you see a deer it is more than likely that there are two or three or more there. So when you see one deer, assume there are more.

And living in southern Michigan increases the chances of being involved in a car-deer accident. Highway killed deer totaled 5,909 in the southern Lower Peninsula during 1976; 5,224 in the northern Lower Peninsula and 1,162 in the Upper Peninsula.

St. Joseph attorney Jerry Nye has won two more rifle shooting championships.

On Sept. 17-18 at Camp Atterbury, Ind., he took the Indiana State High Powered Rifle Championship with a 1,370 score out of a possible 1,400 while shooting at targets at ranges of 200 to 600 yards.

Nye won by an eight-point margin in a field of more than 75 shooters from throughout the Midwest.

Back in August, Nye took the Air Force Cup in the national matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. While firing at 600 yards, he compiled a 197 out of a possible 200 score.

Nye, 38, is a major in the Illinois Air National Guard. His unit, the 126th air refueling wing, is based at O'Hare airport in Chicago.

A pair of albino bear cubs have been spotted several times in the Upper Peninsula in an area south of Houghton and northwest of Baraga. There was a single albino in the area last year.

Farm Bureau Offers Passes

PAW PAW — Farmers may obtain a supply of the new sportsman land use pass here from the Van Buren Farm Bureau office on Red Arrow Highway.

Poor Fishing Over Weekend

It was generally a lousy weekend for salmon fishermen in southwestern Michigan, but there were signs of improvement Monday.

"It was bad over the weekend...very few fish were taken out on Lake Michigan," reported B-J's Sports in St. Joseph. "It was really slow," added a spokesperson for Mulligan Fisheries in St. Joseph.

But a bright outlook came from Shamrock Park at Berrien Springs. A Monday morning check revealed that anglers fishing from the park launch site had taken 40 fish from the area below the dam.

Success at the dam was also low over the weekend, with about 200 fishermen on Sunday taking 34 coho, 14 chinook, 12 browns and 4 steelhead. On Saturday, about 350 anglers had 39 coho, 12 steelhead, 11 chinook and three browns.

Another good spot on the St. Joseph River has been downstream around the area where Pipestone Creek enters.

The Department of Natural Resources also notes that sizeable catches of chinook are being taken on the Kalamazoo River at the Allegan dam.

The limited fishery out on the Big Lake has been mainly around the mouths of the rivers. Trollers have been running lines from the surface down to about 20 feet.

On inland lakes, fishing interest is low, according to the DNR. Better bluegill waters the past week have included Eagle, Corn, Christie and Lake 11 in Van Buren county.

Mystery Person Pays Taxes In Cash

HARTFORD OWNERS SAY LEVIES WERE PAID BEFORE

HARTFORD — Delinquent taxes on two pieces of property in this city have been mysteriously paid by an unknown person.

Mayor Wayne Nelson revealed that information in the City Council last night saying that 1976 winter taxes on two pieces of property had been paid at the Van Buren County treasurer's office around Aug. 26.

County Treasurer A.A. Smith said this morning the taxes, interest and penalty had been paid in his office on Aug. 26. He said he had no record of who paid the taxes. Receipts were made out to the owners at request of the person paying the taxes.

The tax question came to light two weeks ago after the two property owners told Hartford Treasurer Lucille Mann that they had received delinquency notices from the county, but showed her receipts showing they had paid the taxes when they were due in 1976.

The owners, Mrs. Ralph Bailey, 471 North Center St., and Mrs. Phyllis DeFord, 102 North Haver, said they paid the taxes when due and did not pay them again at the treasurer's office Aug. 26.

The combined tax payment, including penalty and interest for both pieces of property was $944, Smith said.

Smith said the taxes were paid in cash and he did not know who paid them.

The council last night directed Nelson to call in investigators from the state treasury department for a full investigation of the city's books. It would be the third such investigation of the city's books in the past 15 months. Twice in 1976 investigators looked into alleged financial irregularities which were ordered paid off by the then City Clerk Jewell Story.

Nelson said this morning that at the present time the city's books are clear, but the question remains as to what happened to the money originally, a task which will be in the hands of the state auditors.

In other action, the council approved a new police policy in the wake of public complaints over the operation of the city police department.

Mayor Nelson cast the lone dissenting vote on the new policy. Voting in favor were council members Louise Engle, Lois Budreau, Michael Duffy, Eugene Hadley, Theodore Johnson and Milton Wehmeier.

The new policy primarily spells out the duties of Police Chief Lee Spencer. According to Mrs. Engle, who presented the policy, the former policy was more a departmental policy, directing the chief on how to manage the department. "That is the responsibility of the chief," she said, "what we need is a policy indicating what the council expects of and from (the chief) with respect to certain areas of operation."

The new policy outlines the jurisdiction of the police and under what special circumstances police officers may go outside the city limits. That was one complaint from city residents who said it appeared officers were frequently outside the city. The policy also outlines record keeping duties of the department.

Nelson said he objected to the policy because it did not include holiday, sick pay and vacation policies, which he said would leave police officers with no guidelines on those benefits.

In a related move, the council unanimously approved a citywide policy covering those benefits for all employees including police personnel. The only change from current policy would be to increase vacation time for city public works employees who currently receive less vacation time than other employees.

The council last night approved placing the question on the ballot seeking the appointment of the city clerk, treasurer and assessor.

Last year a similar proposal was not placed on the ballot because the council missed the deadline for putting it on the ballot. In a 1980 charter vote, city residents made the positions elective and a proposal to change the positions to appointment was defeated by voters in 1971.

The engineer for the city's sewage treatment plant and interceptor line project told the council that bonds for the city's share of the $2.45 million project have been sold.

Thomas Deneau of Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, said the bonds were purchased by a Chicago bank at an annual interest rate of 5.33819 percent. The bonds amount to $545,000 for a 22-year period. Annual debt retirement millage to pay off the bonds will range from about 4.5 mills to 7 mills, Nelson said.

In related action, the council voted to seek an extension on an option for the purchase of property to be used as the site of the new sewage treatment plant. The option expires Oct. 5 and the council will seek an extension until bond money is received. Deneau estimated the money would be received in about three weeks.

The council also noted that new sewer rates approved by the council in June will go into effect with the November billing. Because the city is changing to computerized billing, the sewer rates will be a quarterly bill based on half the six-month water usage bill. The rates are $10 per quarter for the first 10,000 gallons and $1 for each additional 1,000 gallons used per quarter.

Nelson said the old rates were collected on a half-year basis, but with the new computerized billing, collections for both sewer and water will be quarterly beginning with February billing.

The council again agreed to follow the joint recommendation of a committee of city and school officials on school crossing guards. The agreement is the same as one drawn up in January. Guards are to be placed at two intersections.

The council agreed to designate its new city hall as the election site for the Nov. 8 election. The council toured the building, located at 18 West Main St. Interior work dividing off the former A & P store building into offices and a police area is being done by city employees.

Hartford Teacher Loses Maternity Extension Bid

HARTFORD — The Hartford school board in a 6-1 vote last night denied a former kindergarten teacher's request for a maternity leave extension.

The extension was requested in order to avoid accepting another position in the district, according to the teacher's letter.

The request for a one-year extension was made by Mrs. Jan Smith. Mrs. Smith had previously taught kindergarten in Hartford on a full-time basis for six years and a half-time basis her last year (1975-76).

Supt. Gary Waterkamp said Mrs. Smith's old position had been dropped due to a decline in kindergarten enrollment and a recent millage defeat. However she was offered a full-time position as a third grade teacher.

Mrs. Smith had written the board saying she didn't want to teach third grade and requested an extension on her maternity leave.

Mrs. Smith stated she was told only a week and a half prior to the start of school that the third grade position was open. She said 1 1/2 weeks was not enough time to prepare for teaching at the higher level and she did not have any third grade teaching materials.

In denying her request, the board said it was afraid of setting a precedent of allowing teachers on maternity leave the right not to accept a position offered them by simply requesting a maternity leave extension.

Since the request was denied, the board said according to the master teaching contract and state tenure law, Mrs. Smith in essence has resigned since she didn't accept the other teaching position offered and she has lost her tenure.

Voting against her request for the maternity leave extension were William Austin, Marion Timey, Thomas Smith (no relation), Roger Duncombe, Barry Nelson and Stephen Shafer. Voting for it was James Keech.

Mrs. Smith had been on leave during the entire 1976-77 school year, according to Supt. Waterkamp.

Waterkamp said the decision came down to whether or not the board felt Mrs. Smith had requested the extension because she didn't want the new position offered (an unjustifiable reason under the master contract) or if the extension was requested for post natal care (a justifiable reason).

In other areas, the board accepted the resignations of Dick Pfeiffer, varsity basketball coach; Ed Gustafson, varsity track coach; and Dick Patterson, varsity baseball coach. The board appointed Bill Grabemeyer as varsity baseball coach. He had been assistant varsity baseball coach.

The board also appointed Francis Peterson as freshmen basketball coach and Rick Ward as girls' softball coach. Six other coaches were reappointed. The varsity basketball and track coaching positions along with JV basketball remain open.

The board referred bids for a new school bus to committee for further study. A request to have a school bus stop on Pinery Road to pick up children was referred to Harold Walker, school transportation director.

Your shopping cart can tell you a lot about your electric bill.

Like food and everything else you buy these days, inflation has hit us, too.

So, it would be easy to blame inflation for rising electric rates and leave it at that.

And, for sure, inflation has doubled and tripled the cost of everything from towers and transformers to coal and cable.

Take coal, our single largest operating expense. Its cost has gone up fourfold and more in the seventies.

And those devices cost millions.

For example: our Tanners Creek Generating Plant cost 130 million dollars to build. Installing new pollution control devices on that plant will cost 96 million dollars.

Of course, power plants cost a lot more today, too. And, to keep up with your needs, we'll need more of them.

Which means we're going to have to borrow money to build them. But even that's more expensive these days.

Obviously, keeping up with these rising costs and trying to stay ahead of the steadily growing need for electricity isn't easy.

But, by sharing the facts and problems as well as the good things electricity brings, we hope you'll better understand some of the forces that have made your electric bill go up.

Bloom'dale Board Vetoes Cut In Athletic Budget

BLOOMINGDALE — The Bloomington school board last night overrode a proposal to withhold action on an athletic budget for the district.

In a 5-2 vote, the board earmarked $30,000 for the program, the same as last school year. The decision came after the board voted down in a 4-3 vote a proposal to budget about $26,000 for this school year's sports program.

Supt. Donald Drago had suggested withholding action on the athletic budget or setting aside $26,462 for consideration later.

Drago's proposal was made in view of the tentative 1977-78 school year budget. With the $30,000 appropriation, the budget figure was placed at $2,086,047, or $5,539 over projected income of $2,080,508.

Drago cautioned that projected income might not reach expected levels. Local tax collections, he said, might reach only 90 percent of the $819,000 due. He also said teacher contract talks are still underway and the settlement might cost more than anticipated.

Consideration of the athletics budget came as the board acted to adopt the tentative budget.

Gateway Re-Elects

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Seven directors were re-elected for three-year terms at last Wednesday's annual meeting of Gateway Vocational Rehabilitation Center.

They are Dwight Benner, Ph.D.; Dwayne L. Ford, Ph.D.; Eldon Chalmers, Ph.D.; Yvonne Hughes Chandler; Marcella Odehnal; Edward J. Ryan; and Judy Stortjell.

The Herald-Palladium last week was supplied the names of four board members who were not up for election as being re-elected.

SEX CHARGE

Allegan Defendant Blames Booze, LSD

ALLEGAN — Danny Dean Butler, of Allegan, told an Allegan County Circuit Court judge here yesterday his attack on an Allegan woman was prompted by his use of the drug LSD combined with alcohol.

Butler, 20, pleaded no contest to a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct in the May 31 attack on a 20-year-old Allegan woman.

Butler faces up to life imprisonment on the charge. He is scheduled to be sentenced Oct. 21.

Allegan county Prosecutor Fred H. Hunter said Butler told Circuit Court Judge George Corsiglia the LSD and alcohol prompted the attack and also caused him to forget several parts of the entire day. Hunter said the no contest or nolo contendere plea was entered because Butler was unable to recall enough information about the attack to substantiate a guilty plea.

The young woman was hospitalized in Kalamazoo after the attack and has since been released. Hunter said doctors originally feared she would be severely paralyzed, but "she's made remarkable progress," Hunter noted.

He said she is now able to walk with the aid of a cane and soon expects to walk on her own.

Authorities at the time of the attack said she was raped and also beaten and stabbed about the head.

Hunter said Butler was originally charged with attempted murder as well as the sex charge, but he said he expects the murder charge to be dismissed when Butler is sentenced.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Setter, Pinscher Listed As Stolen

Two dogs were listed as among the lost in six thefts reported Monday to Twin City area police agencies.

Charles Eagan, of 1423 St. Thomas St., told Benton Township Police his registered Irish Setter valued at $500 was stolen off a chain in his backyard. Patrolman Michael Krugh said the dog was described as two years old.

Tommy Miles, of 400 Emery St., told Benton Township Police his seven-month-old Doberman Pinscher valued at $75 was stolen. Dispatcher Dave McNeil said Miles reported the puppy had just undergone an ear-shaping operation and still had surgical thread in its ears.

Two other thefts were reported to Benton Township Police: Robert Van Arkel, director of maintenance and grounds at Lake Michigan College, reported a battery charger valued at $150 was stolen from the college carpentry shop sometime earlier this month.

William Barchett, of 2051 Gerald St., St. Joseph Township, said two canvas tarpaulins valued at a total of $190 were stolen from the flatbed trailer of his semi-rig while the truck was parked at Famous Truck Plaza, East Napier Avenue and I-94.

Berrien sheriff's officers reported Phillip Pence, of 223 Olive Branch Rd., Gallen, told them 23 sheets of plywood valued at a total of $414 were stolen from a construction site near the intersection of Glendora and Holden roads in Veesaw Township. The police report identified Pence as a home construction contractor.

Deputies also reported a tire and wheel valued at a total of $40 were stolen from the trunk of an auto owned by Roberto Brazil, Route 2, Box 618, Watervliet Township, by thieves who pried the trunk lid open while the car was parked at Shepherd Products, 203 Kerth, St. Joseph.

Benton Township Police reported Monday vandals threw several soft drink bottles at two windows at Johnson Elementary School on Benton Center Road over the weekend, cracking a 4 by 8-foot pane of glass valued at $200. They said the damage was discovered Monday morning by school custodian Fred Metz.

Cass District Dropping Plans For Tax Election

CASSOPOLIS — Lewis Cass Intermediate School District voters won't be asked to vote again on a .75 of a mill property tax millage levy for special education funding.

Arthur Towe, intermediate district superintendent, withdrew his recommendation for holding a special election on the question on Oct. 25 at the intermediate board's meeting last night.

Towe told the board that he learned yesterday from the board's attorney in Lansing that even if the voters approved the millage request, the district could not levy the additional tax on this year's winter tax bills.

Towe said that intermediate districts must hold millage elections prior to Sept. 1 in order to collect money on this year's tax bills. Local school districts may ballot up until the second Tuesday in November and still collect funds on that year's tax billings.

Towe had already received approval from Cass County Clerk Kenneth Poe to hold the special election on Oct. 25. A similar request was defeated by district voters in July by a vote of 800-600.

Towe said that all intermediate district education programs will be funded completely even without the additional funds. He said that money will also be available for countywide special education and special tuition students.

He said, however, that special education programs conducted by the four local school districts in the intermediate district will only receive funding on a prorated basis.

The revenue from the proposed millage was to finance the individual district program costs.

'Copter Burns; Two Escape

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — A Zilwaukee helicopter pilot and his passenger are uninjured after escaping when their craft ran into telephone lines and burst into flames. Carrollton Township fire officials said the pilot, Gary Boyles, 37, was attempting to lift off from behind a local bank when the chopper ran into the lines, dropped about three feet and caught fire. Boyle's passenger was identified as Cindy Murlick of Carrollton. Boyle said the helicopter cost him $18,000.

S&L Official Faces Embezzling Charge

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The manager of Belding Savings and Loan Association is free on his own recognition after pleading innocent to two counts of embezzling more than $4,200 from his firm.

Thomas Oliver Proctor, 44, of Belding, was released after his arraignment Monday before U.S. Magistrate Steven Karr. Proctor was charged with embezzling $2,931 in May, 1973, and another $1,269 last October, federal authorities said.

A Miami, Fla., man, Charles H. Rogers Jr., 35, was freed on $20,000 appeal bond after being sentenced to five years in prison and five years probation, on fraud charges.

U.S. District Judge Wendell Miles also ordered Rogers to make restitution.

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit judges yesterday imposed prison terms on seven 10 people, including two men who assaulted a gas station attendant at gunpoint.

Judge William S. White imposed 15- to 30-year terms on Richard P. Fitzner, 18, of 1172 Summer Court, Benton Township, and Robert L. James, 18, Fairplain. Both were sentenced for assault with intent to rob while armed, reduced from armed robbery. They were charged with assaulting Dennis Hill, 17, an employee of Arco service station at Napier avenue and I-94, Benton Township, on Aug. 6. Both Fitzner and James were stocking masks over their heads, with one carrying a shotgun and the other a handgun. Hill was not injured in the incident.

White noted Fitzner had a "long and extensive" juvenile record, and said Fitzner last year had been placed on two years probation in circuit court for attempted breaking and entering. "I don't know how many breaks you expect society to give you," the judge said.

Judge Julian E. Hughes sentenced Elliott A. Greer, 41, of 1029 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor, to 40 to 60 months in prison for attempted breaking and entering the Berrien County Action building, at 617 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, on May 24.

Hughes also imposed a 1½- to 4-year term on Ronald A. Walter, 18, of 145 Ontario road, Niles, for larceny in a building — the theft of beer, cash, and a TV from the VFW hall in Niles township on March 1.

Judge Zoe S. Burkholz sentenced Laurie C. Ishmael, 20, of Crystal Trailer Park, Benton Township, to 2 to 5 years in prison for uttering and publishing a bad check for $25 Dec. 8 at the Zephyr service station in Benton Township.

In other sentences by White: Philip J. McPeck, 30, of 801 Timberlane, Berrien Springs, was sentenced to 3 to 15 years in prison for second degree criminal sexual conduct — sexual contact with a girl under age 13 from April, 1975, through December, 1976, in Niles Township.

Frederick Baysinger, 18, of 333 Pleasant street, Watervliet, received a 2 to 4-year term for larceny in a building — the theft of tools from the Watervliet Redi-Mix plant in Watervliet township on Sept. 17, 1976.

Steven A. Cayo, 23, of 8165 Scottsdale road, Berrien Springs, was ordered to begin a two-year probation with 90 days in jail for attempted carrying a concealed weapon, a revolver, March 21 in Berrien Springs. He was also assessed $450 fine and costs.

Leander Lewis, 37, of 1118 Broadway, Benton Harbor, was placed on two years probation and assessed $250 fine and costs for carrying a concealed weapon, a revolver, May 23 in Benton Harbor.

In arraignments before White: Dennis D. Guldry, 21, of 782 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building, the theft of cash from Flip's Donut shop in St. Joseph on Sept. 7.

Daniel W. Rutherford, 29, of 1840 Kay drive, Benton township, pleaded no contest to attempting to issue three insufficient funds checks totaling $90 in 10 days, from April 18 to 23.

Arthur E. Sanderson, 19, of South Bend, pleaded guilty before Judge Julian E. Hughes to attempted breaking and entering the residence of Robert Haedter, in Bertrand township, on Aug. 8.

Four Errant Dads Given Ultimatum

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Four fathers were given ultimatum yesterday in Berrien Circuit Court while being sentenced for non-support of their children.

Two were told to find jobs in 30 days or receive jail terms, another man was ordered to pay $200 towards his support arrearage by Friday or report back to court, and a fourth was told he'd get a 30-day jail term if he misses one payment.

Edward Pastrick, chief investigator for the Berrien Friend of the Court's office, reported on cases before Judge Julian E. Hughes.

Lora Huddleston, of 979 Waukonda Ave., Benton Harbor, was sentenced to two years probation for $3,284 arrears for two children on ADC in one case, and $2,072 arrears for another ADC child in another case.

Huddleston was ordered to find work in 30 days and sign wage assignments of $10 weekly support plus $5 weekly on the arrears in each case or spend 60 days in jail. Pastrick said Huddleston has made seven support payments for the two children since October, 1972, and eight payments for the other child since June, 1973.

Anthony Davis, of 777 East Napier Ave., Benton Township, was sentenced to two years probation for $2,186 arrears for one ADC child, and was also given 30 days to find employment or spend 60 days in jail. Davis was ordered to sign a wage assignment of $14 weekly support and $6 per week in the arrears.

Pastrick said Davis has made seven weekly support payments

Judge Zoe S. Burkholz sentenced David Moler, of 1540 Cedar Point Road, Niles, to two years probation for $3,620 arrears for two children on ADC, and ordered him to sign a wage assignment of $24 weekly support and $10 per week on the arrears.

Special Investigator Joseph Beckmann said Moler paid $800 towards the arrears, and was ordered to pay another $200 by Friday or report back to court. Beckmann said Moler has made three support payments this year. Randall Enders, of 827 Miller Drive, Niles, was sentenced to two years probation by Judge Burkholz for $3,022 arrears for one ADC child. The judge ordered him to sign a wage assignment of $33 weekly support and $10 per week on the arrearage, and warned that if one payment is missed a 30-day jail term will be imposed.

In other cases, Marilyn Bannow, 34, formerly of Dowagiac, pleaded innocent to a charge of arson involving an Aug. 30, 1976, fire at a mobile home she owned near Decatur. Deanna Sue Morgan, 19, Portageville, Mo., pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a no account check for $75 in South Haven last May 18. Michael D. Bowling, 18, Kalamazoo, pleaded innocent to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a .32-caliber revolver, in South Haven township on Sept. 3.

MAN AND WIFE Pair Ask Hearings In Break-In Case

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Grand Junction couple, arrested in connection with a Sept. 18 break-in at an Arlington township farmhouse, were arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Harry McCoy, 42, and his wife, Nona Rae McCoy, 34, both of 15th avenue, were released on their own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on charges of breaking and entering. Their hearings were set for Oct. 4.

The house is located at 48th street and 28th avenue. State police at South Haven said a neighbor frightened away suspects in a pickup truck before anything was taken.

In other cases, John Smith, 26, of 521 North Phelps, Decatur, was ordered held on $1,000 bond after demanding preliminary examination on a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check. His hearing was also set for Oct. 4.

The charge involves a check for $27 issued at a party store near Mattawan on July 22, according to Van Buren sheriff's deputies.

Roy Lee Hunt, 22, route 2, Decatur, was sentenced by Judge William C. Buhl to serve nine days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of making a false report to police. He was charged with falsely telling state police at Paw Paw Saturday that he had shot a man in Keeler township.

The following persons were also sentenced as a result of guilty pleas to drinking-related offenses:

Elias Jackson Church, 54, of 304 Prairie Road, Decatur, 60 days in jail, $170 fine, and one to two years probation on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants (DUIL), second offense, in Decatur on Aug. 2.

Farrish Lee Terry, 37, of 40th street, Paw Paw, 45 days in jail, $200 fine, and one to two years probation for DUIL, second offense, in Paw Paw township during August, 1976.

Ronnie A. Davis, Rose Hill road, Berrien Springs, $175 fine for impaired driving in Hamilton township last Feb. 28.

Paul Edward Kelcey, 37, route 2, Decatur, four days in jail and $100 fine for DUIL in Keeler township Saturday.

Daniel James Guritz, 17, of 400 North LaGrave, Paw Paw, $175 fine for impaired driving in Paw Paw on March 25.

Warren B. Fleeman, 51, of 4th avenue, Paw Paw, $150 fine for impaired driving in Antwerp township on March 19.

Jury Denies Damages For Crash

A Berrien Circuit Court jury deliberated two hours yesterday before denying a Stevensville couple's claim for damages stemming from a car-tractor accident in 1973.

Jurors in Judge Julian E. Hughes' court found in favor of the defendant, Roy E. Johnson, of Three Oaks, to end a three-day civil trial.

The plaintiffs, Charles and Nancy Pfauth, of 6315 Red Arrow Highway, sought $100,000 damages for injuries Pfauth allegedly sustained in the June 16, 1973, accident on Warren Woods Road in Chikaming Township.

Their suit claimed Pfauth was driving a tractor on the road and a car operated by Johnson hit the rear of the tractor. The defense during the trial contended Pfauth had signaled Johnson to pass the tractor, and that Pfauth then turned into the path of the Johnson auto.

Opposing counsel in the trial were St. Joseph attorney Roger Petzke, representing Johnson, and attorney Peter Kosick, of St. Joseph, representing the Pfauths.

RENTAL AGENT TICKETED BH Housing Code Violation Charged

Berrien Real Estate Co. yesterday was charged with failing to comply with Benton Harbor's Uniform Housing Code.

A representative of the St.

Joseph real estate company pleaded innocent on behalf of the company Monday in Berrien District Court. A house at 970 Bishop Ave. was allegedly unsuitable for occupancy when it was rented because defects spotted during an inspection weren't corrected, according to a ticket issued by city building inspectors.

Benton Harbor City Attorney Yvonne Hughes Chandler said the company was charged because it is the agent of home owner Carl Tonlin of Nashville, Tenn.

Herbert Boston, the city's director of building and inspection, said the house was inspected Aug. 8, between occupancy of tenants. Defects found during the inspection haven't been corrected, but the house was rented anyway, he alleged. He said the house is still occupied.

A letter in the court file stated defects included infestation of vermin, broken windows and broken plaster. The letter was written by Boston and sent to Tonlin and Berrien Real Estate.

Attorney Hughes Chandler said the violation is punishable by up to 90 days in jail and fine of $100.

State police at the Niles post said they were called about 11:30 p.m. Sunday to the Love Estates Mobile Home Park on Indian Lake west of Dowagiac to settle a family disturbance.

Police said a man at the home pointed a loaded .25 caliber, automatic handgun at two officers before retreating into a mobile home from which he kept police at bay for the next five hours before surrendering to officers.

There were no shots fired during the confrontation, but police say a 31-year-old woman was struck in the face and McCormick's 60-year-old mother, Mrs. Meriem Conway, was threatened.

McCormick is charged with assault against the two women and Mrs. Conway.

He has asked for a court-appointed attorney.

Alarm Rings, But No Blaze

Benton Harbor firemen said they responded to an alarm at St. Matthew's Lutheran School, 971 McAllister Ave., Monday morning, but found there was no fire.

Firefighters said they learned an alarm in the school gymnasium had been tripped shortly after 10 a.m. but were unable to determine what set the alarm off. The alarm was reset by firemen.

OREGON IS TEST CASE

Bottle Deposits Hot Issue

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ninety-nine bottles of beer in the ditch.

"Ninety-nine bottles of beer.
you'll turn it around."

"There'll only be 18 bottles of beer in the ditch."

"Eighteen bottles of beer."

"That, at least, is the hope of environmentalists hoping for a law to require deposits on all beverage containers in an effort to keep the cans and bottles in use and off the roadside."

"Most of the nation's brewers, soft drink makers and can and bottle manufacturers are opposing the effort."

"Oregon led the way five years ago and serves as the test case in the struggle, but both sides can produce statistics which they say prove their point."

"Since the Oregon law was passed most "bottle bills," calling for mandatory deposits, have been defeated, except in Michigan, Vermont, South Dakota and a few local jurisdictions."

"Among the measures being held up is a national bottle bill, promoted by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore. The measure was recently rejected 10-6 in committee, but Hatfield reportedly is considering submitting the proposal to the full Senate."

ment agencies, responding to earlier legislation, are scheduled to report late this month on plans to limit beverage sales on federal property to returnable containers."

"Getting a head start was the National Park Service, which instituted a returnable-only policy this summer at most of its facilities."

"Final details of the project have not been compiled, but a spokesman said that "aside from a few minor problems, it wide, commenting that return rates vary from city to city. In New York, for example, nearly everything is thrown away, while in Chicago the majority of bottles is returned."

"He said that his most recent report from Oregon indicates that bottles are being returned an average of about 10 times each. That rate saves energy in comparison to throwaways, but he said that before Oregon's law was passed the return rate was only returnable containers would remove much of the economic stimulus from recycling general trash."

"Jobs too have been a bone of contention with dire warnings of lost employment from manufacturers who fear the shutdown of can and bottle plants if large numbers of refillable containers come into use."

"But both sides admit that in Oregon there was a net gain in employment, with new jobs in recycling and collection out-numbering those lost in container manufacturing."

"And then there is litter, the scenic blight that brought the controversy out in the first place."

"Environmentalists claim that beverage-related litter in Oregon was reduced by 80 per cent after the state law was passed, while the manufacturers claim the reduction was 88 per cent."

MIA Review

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that the Defense Department may review the status of 200 servicemen listed as missing in action in Indochina to determine if they should be reclassified as killed in action.

Semantics Themselves Lead To Much Of The Conflict

seemed to work well," and resulted in a reduction of litter."

"The Defense Department got into the act early, and is in the midst of a year-long trial of returnables-only at 10 military bases."

"Meanwhile, the battle between environmentalists and manufacturers continues with both sides claiming their plan is the energy saver."

"Albert Barr of the Glass Manufacturers Institute, noting that refillable bottles are heavier and require more energy and materials to make, said they must be returned seven or eight times before they constitute an energy savings over the lighter, throwaway bottles."

"Barr said no definite figures on returns are available nation-

22 times per bottle."

"By contrast, environmentalists are estimating between 14 and 18 returns per bottle in Oregon, and a state spokeswoman said the latest figures available there indicate between 18 to 20 returns per bottle."

"While the lack of firm figures for returns on bottles, or tri-page, has generated considerable debate, semantics themselves have led to much of the conflict."

"The opponents of the bills refer in most of their literature to "refillable" containers."

"But the Environmental Protection Agency, a promoter of a bottle bill, refers instead to "returnable" containers."

"The difference is not noticeable to the consumer, but the refillable container is sent back to the bottler after it is returned to be cleaned and filled for another use."

"The non-refillable goes to a recycling center where it is ground up and its glass or steel or aluminum is put to another use."

"Under the proposed bottle laws both refillable and nonrefillable containers would be allowed, but the deposit would encourage consumers to return both, instead of throwing away the non-refillables."

"The manufacturers have paid little attention to this difference, while environmentalists emphasize it as a means of saving and reusing resources."

"The brewers, however, have confronted this issue, making their main emphasis resource recovery. They have been pushing for recycling of all trash, and suggest that using

Fennville Okays Tax Break Bid

FENNVILLE — The Fennville City Commission last night approved a Michigan Fruit Canners, Inc., request to designate property south of the present plant here as an industrial development district.

"The designation is the first step for the firm to obtain property tax relief on a proposed $870,000 warehouse and production building. The firm would receive a 50 per cent tax reduction on the new plant for 12 years, if a subsequent tax exemption request is approved by the state. No construction schedule has been announced."

"In other areas, the commission in a 4-1 vote gave final approval for the city to become the site of an Allegan County Sheriff's Department substaution. Under the plan, sheriff patrols would be based in Fennville and cover neighboring townships as well as the city."

"Undersheriff Robert Hill said the county would buy gas from the city and use its office space when needed. He said a request for $750 from each township and the city was only a partial contribution for the total cost. An additional nine officers would be hired and trained to man the patrols. They would be paid out of a CETA grant of $114,000 in the county for the project."

Hill said a target date of Oct.
31 has been set for the start of the patrols. Voting for the city's participation were Mayor James Clary, Charles Har, Duane Hafer and Ned Bale.

"Voting against it was Karen Barnes, Commissioners Charles Dickinson and Jesse DeLuz, were not present."

"The commission directed its water consultants to perform further studies on increasing water outputs from two city wells. The report is scheduled to be ready for the Oct. 17 meeting."

"The commission also approved a building permit for LaSalle Federal Savings and Loan, Buchanan, to construct a facility on West Main street valued at $86,000. The building is expected to be completed by late January."
